TESTIMONY OF HUGH TOVAR

1
2 Mr. Goldsmith. State your name for the record.

3 Mr. Tovar. I sign my name B. Hugh. My full name is 4 Bernard Hugh Tovar.

5 Mr. Goldsmith. Mr. Tovar, my name is Michael Goldsmith,
6 Senator Staff Counsel of the Select Committee on Assassinations.
7 I have been designated by the Committee to take your deposition
8 today. You are here voluntarily today?

9 Mr. Tovar. Yes.

10 Mr. Goldsmith. You have the right to have counsel present.
11 Do you waive that right?

12 Mr. Tovar. Yes.

13 Mr. Goldsmith. Have you read a copy of the Committee's 14 supporting resolution?

15 Mr. Tovar. Yes.

16 Mr. Goldsmith. Have you had a chance to read Rule Number
17 4?

18 Mr. Tovar. I have.

19 Mr. Goldsmith. The Committee rules provide for the tran-
20 script of a deposition to be made available to a witness and 21 actually be delivered for retention by any witness that gives 22 the Committee a statement. However, by virtue of the arrange-
23 ment that the Committee has worked out with the CIA, the Agency
24 has asked us to request Agency employees testifying before us
25 to waive the right actually to receive a copy of the transcript.

1 The reason for that is because the transcript frequently
2 will contain classified information and the Agency prefers for
3 that information to be kept in our secure area here. So I
4 would like to ask you to waive your right to receive a copy of 5 your statement but in so doing, I want to assure you that you
6 will be given a right to review the transcript for accuracy,
7 o make comment upon it and if necessary, to give an additional 8 statement.

9 Mr. Tovar. I agree.

10 Mr. Goldsmith. I would like to inform you that the court
11 reporter will provide you with a transcript and the transcript
12 will be certified by the reporter as a complete, accurate and 13 true record of all the testimony that you give here today.

14 Now, you are employed by the CIA, is that correct?

15 Mr. Tovar. Yes.

16 Mr. Goldsmith. I had given you earlier a copy of a letter
17 dated 23 March 1978 from Mr. Carlucci to the Chairman of this 18 Committee. Have you had a chance to read that letter?

19 Mr. Tovar. I have.

20 Mr. Goldsmith. Do you understand it?

21 Mr. Tovar. I understand it.

22 Mr. Goldsmith. Then I think we are ready to proceed to 23 the substance of the questioning. What is your present position
24 with the CIA?

25 Mr. Tovar. I am the Chief of the Counterintelligence

1 Staff of the Directorate of Operations.

2 Mr. Goldsmith. How long have you been working in that 3 capacity?

4 Mr. Tovar. Ever since a year ago April.

5 Mr. Goldsmith. How long have you been working with the 6 Agency?

7 Mr. Tovar. Thirty years.

8 Mr. Goldsmith. What was your assignment prior to becom-
9 ing Chief of the CI Staff?

10 Mr. Tovar. I was recently returned from overseas where I
11 was Station Chief in Bangkok and three years before that,
12 Chief of the Station in Laos.

13 Mr. Goldsmith. Prior to assuming your position as Chief 14 of the CI Staff had you had extensive experience in the area of 15 counterintelligence?

16 Mr. Tovar. No, not particularly. We don't as a rule
17 specialize. We are normally generalists. I do not consider 18 myself a counterintelligence expert.

19 Mr. Goldsmith. During the years 1959 to '63 what position
20 did you occupy with the Agency?

21 Mr. Tovar. In 1959 I was Chief of Station in Kuala
22 Lumpur in Malaysia.

23 In 1920, I came back and I was originally Deputy Chief and 24 then Chief of the Branch in Far East Division which controls
25 operations in the Phillipines, Malaysia, Indonesia, Australia,

1 New Zealand, and Oceania. That was until 1964.

2 Mr. Goldsmith. Have you had a chance to review CIA
3 document number 1817 and the pages that follow it?

4 Mr. Tovar. Yes, I have read these. I had not read these.
5 They were released by one of my subordinates, Mr. Friedlander.

6 Mr. Goldsmith. Are you telling us that today is the first
7 chance you had to read them?

8 Mr. Tovar. I did not read them this time. They went to 9 you, to the Committee but I have since read them.

10 Mr. Goldsmith. They were prepared by whom?

11 Mr. Tovar. Jack Friedlander, Chief of Operations. They 12 were signed by him, not prepared by him. They would have been 13 originated probably by Mr. Kowalski or Mr. Bradley, I am not 14 sure which. I think Kowalski almost certainly.

15 Mr. Goldsmith. The memorandum which is labeled CIA No.
16 1817 was a response by the Agency to an inquiry by the 17 Committee as to whether it was standard operating procedure for 18 the Agency to debrief what in effect were repatriated defectors.
19 I believe it is fair to say by way of summary that the memo
20 says that it was not in fact standard operating procedure
21 during the years 1959 to '63 to debrief such individuals. Is 22 that correct?

23 Mr. Tovar. Insofar as I understand it. My knowledge is 24 limited to what I see here before me in the paper. During this 25 period in question I was not involved, so I didn't know what

1 the current policy was then.

2 What I have been told since by those who should know is
3 that there was no policy as set forth here.

4 Mr. Goldsmith. Do you know what the criteria were for 5 selecting the 117 individuals whose files were reviewed?

6 Mr. Tovar. No. I think someone mentioned the other day
7 that the names were incorporated in a memorandum I think ori-
8 ginionally by the FBI but I would not certify to that.

9 Mr. Goldsmith. Mr. Tovar, since you have no direct 10 knowledge as to the manner in which this memo was prepared and,
11 for example, you don't know the criteria that was used for 12 choosing these 117 people, I am not going to ask you questions
13 pertaining to that document. I would like to request that you
14 communicate with the Office of Legislative Counsel at the 15 Agency and tell them the individual who was involved in the 16 actual direct preparation of the document so that I could spend 17 some time with him.

18 Mr. Tovar. The document, of course, is over my signature,
19 so I stand behind the document. I am responsible for what 20 was said there. If it is incorrect then I am incorrect in 21 letting that document out. I have no personal first hand know-
22 ledge of the research he did to arrive at the conclusion here
23 which he presented to me and I endorsed. I am prepared to stand
24 behind it but I will give you his name.

25 Mr. Goldsmith. I want to ask you some questions about the

1 document. CIA no. 1818 indicates that CI Staff has completed a
2 review of the files of 117 US persons who had "defected" to 3 the USSR between 1959 and '63 and since returned to the United
4 States. Is that correct? '58 to '63?

5 Mr. Tovar. Yes.

6 Mr. Goldsmith. I would like you to review the statement
7 under the name Thomas Morradian M-O-R-R-I-D-I-A-N. While you
8 read that paragraph, I will state for the record thst the way
9 the memo is set forth it indicates that it was not standard
10 operating procedure to debrief such individuals, that of 117
11 people whose files were reviewed only ten were debriefed.
12 Then it proceeds to list the ten individuals who in fact were 13 debriefed.

14 I have now requested Mr. Tovar to read the first summary
15 which is right next to the name of the first person who was 16 debriefed.

17 Mr. Tovar. Yes sir.

18 Mr. Goldsmith. When did that individual defect?

19 Mr. Tovar. 1947 is the year he went to the USSR. I
20 assume that is the year he defected, if that is the term.

21 Mr. Goldsmith. So that in fact that individual was not
22 someone who defected between 1958 and 1963?

23 Mr. Tovar. That is correct.

24 Mr. Goldsmith. Let us look at the next individual under 25 B, Joseph Marshall.

1 Mr. Tovar. Yes sir.

2 Mr. Goldsmith. When did Mr. Marshall defect?

3 Mr. Tovar. It is not clear. He was born in the US in 4 1897. He said he was employed in Hawaii in 1921. There is no
5 indication whence he went to the USSR.

6 Mr. Goldsmith. There is no indication he defected between 7 '58 and '63?

8 Mr. Tovar. No. He was arrested by the Soviets in 1945.
9 Conceivably he might have defected after that.

10 Mr. Goldsmith. The letter "C", Tommaro S-G-O-V-I-O.
11 Would you please read that section and tell us when this indi-
12 vidual defected?

13 Mr. Tovar. Again, he went to the USSR with his parents
14 in the 1930s. No indication when he defected. He left the 15 USSR in 1960. No way of telling.

16 Mr. Goldsmith. This individual did not defect between 17 '58 and '63?

18 Mr. Tovar. At last we have no indication he did. One
19 would assume to the contrary.

20 Mr. Goldsmith. Letter "D", Mary Mackler, will you please
21 read the first summary and tell us when she defected?

22 Mr. Tovar. There is no indication when she defected.
23 She went to the USSR with her parents in 1931. Sometime after,
24 married a Soviet.

25 Mr. Goldsmith. Again, no indication she defected between

1 '58 and '63?

2 Mr. Tovar. No.

3 Mr. Goldsmith. Would you look at letter "E". Sonia and 4 Fred A-S-I-N-I-A-N. When did they defect?

5 Mr. Tovar. They renounced their US citizenship in 1948.
6 So I assume that is the operative year.

7 Mr. Goldsmith. Will you look at the letter "F" now?

8 Mr. Tovar. Jack Kuralski.

9 Mr. Goldsmith. When did he defect?

10 Mr. Tovar. He renounced his US citizenship in '34 and 11 departed USSR I assume in 1934.

12 Mr. Goldsmith. The point I am trying to make is that the 13 memo responding to the Committee's inquiry makes reference to 14 ten individuals who defected between the years '58 and '63.
15 It then proceed to provide us with ten names. But in fact,
16 if we continue to look through the list we will see that seven
17 of the ten individuals did not defect during that time period.
18 Some of them did return during that time period.

19 Mr. Tovar. And were debriefed.

20 Mr. Goldsmith. And were debriefed.

21 Mr. Tovar. Contacted.

22 Mr. Goldsmith. Of the ten, perhaps three or four returned
23 during the relevant time period. I asked those questions
24 mainly to draw your attention to the fact that the response
25 given was not really --

1 Mr. Tovar. -- precisely what you wanted?

2 Mr. Goldsmith. Yes.

3 Mr. Tovar. I don't know the answer to that. I would 4 assume that the criteria they applied here as best they could
5 was when did he defect, when did he return, was he debriefed
6 or contacted? In some cases they hit one out of three, in 7 other cases two out of three. I think they were giving the 8 best correlation with your criteria that they could.

9 Mr. Goldsmith. I understand that. My point might be then 10 that the introductory section should not have stated that these 11 were people in 1958 and '63 when in fact they were not.

12 Mr. Tovar. You are right. That is an incorrect statement.
13 Is your requesting memo here? That is not a very good state-
14 ment.

15 Mr. Goldsmith. Here is the letter dated April 6, 1978
16 which I show you just for your information to show you what the 17 Committee was requesting from the Agency. If you will look 18 under number two.

19 Mr. Tovar. Then this would appear to correlate with that.
20 You asked to indicate whether the Agency from '58 to '63
21 interviewed or debriefed former American defectors. So, the 22 time they defected is not the operative consideration.

23 Mr. Goldsmith. No, it was not.

24 Mr. Tovar. The time of the debriefing --

25 Mr. Goldsmith. Yes, that would be the focus.

1 Mr. Tovar. So these would be at least consistent with that.

2 Mr. Goldsmith. Yes, that is true. I would like also for 3 purposes of further clarification, to have you read the letter
4 dated May 12, 1978 starting with the second full paragraph.
5 It is not numbered.

6 Mr. Tovar. Yes.

7 Mr. Goldsmith. I show you that only for your background
8 purposes, not to ask you any questions about it. In any event,
9 I would appreciate having the name of the individual who 10 prepared the memo passed along to the Office of the Legislative 11 Counsel.

12 Mr. Tovar. Yes sir.

13 Mr. Goldsmith. The response that was provided to the 14 Committee indicates that the CIA had no standard procedure for 15 debriefing returning US defectors. What was the basis for that 16 policy or actually for the absence of the policy?

17 Mr. Tovar. I don't know. I can speculate only -- not 18 having been there and not having any involvement -- I don't 19 know what mentality of those in charge was at that time.

20 Mr. Goldsmith. What would your speculation be?

21 Mr. Tovar. I would speculate that the contact with and 22 debriefing, in effect the supervision of Americans in that 23 category would be FBI's prerogative and the Agency as a rule
24 would not have had any basic interest or reason to be involved
25 unless there were a specific counterintelligence concern.

1 Mr. Goldsmith. Does the Agency today have a policy of,
2 as a matter of routine operating procedure, debriefing return-
3 ing defectors?

4 Mr. Tovar. None that I am aware of.

5 Mr. Goldsmith. Again, would you say you relied on the 6 FBI to conduct those interviews?

7 Mr. Tovar. Yes.

8 Mr. Goldsmith. Is there any coordination between the 9 Agency and the FBI so that the Bureau is informed when someone
10 in fact is returning?

11 Mr. Tovar. On American defectors, the type you are speak-
12 ing of here?

13 Mr. Goldsmith. An American defector who is repatriated.

14 Mr. Tovar. I know of no case where they would be 15 interested in the subject. I can't say there is a procedure
16 in being. Knowing the way we relate to the FBI, if we knew of 17 a case of returning Americans, say we learned it from an 18 overseas station and it seemed of interest, we would probably 19 refer it directly to the FBI by letter.

20 I am speculating here because I know of no case in point.

21 Mr. Goldsmith. There is no standard procedure for contact-
22 ing the Bureau and informing them of a returning defector?

23 Mr. Tovar. Not that I am aware of.

24 Mr. Goldsmith. You would be the person who would be aware 25 of such a procedure?

1 Mr. Tovar. Between the Soviet-East European Division and 2 CI Staff we should be aware of it. The two were most primarily 3 concerned with the USSR. I think one or the other of us would 4 inform the Bureau. This is not our primary concern. The 5 Americans, even when they have been naughty boys, having gone
6 to USSR and decided to return, we still don't have necessarily 7 a professional interest in that type of person.

8 Mr. Goldsmith. What is the responsibility of the CI Staff
9 within the CIA?

10 Mr. Tovar. In a couple of sentences it is a little 11 difficult. I will tell you what we do. The CI Staff has two 12 principal areas of activity. We are first of all a staff.
13 Are you familiar with the staff as opposed to the division?

14 Mr. Goldsmith. No, I am not.

15 Mr. Tovar. You have seen the table of organization of 16 DDO?

17 Mr. Goldsmith. Yes.

18 Mr. Tovar. You know generally how we are organized?

19 Mr. Goldsmith. Yes.

20 Mr. Tovar. The main set of components of the Directorate
21 is divisions and staffs. The divisions operate a function over-
22 seas. We are staff and that is in the military sense we support
23 the Directorat and we support the Director, we support one 24 another in an advisory capacity and in various ways. So, we 25 are not an operating component. We don't run spies. We have

1 a lot of activities which impact on operations but we are not in 2 the true sense of the term an operating element.

3 So, having said that, the primary field of activity for 4 the CI Staff is research and analysis, and then the other,
5 what we refer to as operations coordination. Now, that is sort
6 of the term which does not -- research and analysis is clear.
7 We examine and analyze cases, essentially cases. We are not
8 scrutinizing people. We are looking at intelligence operations,
9 old and current, primarily things that are not terribly
10 current. We don't tend to follow current operations in the 11 analytic sense. We take old cases and look them over to see 12 if mistakes were made, to see if we can derive lessons from 13 mistakes made in the past. We publish papers for the Agency's 14 community at large, all in the R&A field.

15 On the other side we function in the sense of a true staff.
16 We keep our fingers on the activity of the Directorate overseas.
17 We monitor what they are doing, not in the sense of being 18 spooky but we simply read the correspondence. We are given 19 normal distribution of most correspondence coming back from 20 overseas. We keep a hand on the pulse of counterintelligence
21 activities abroad.

22 To do this, we obviously have to have reasonable currency
23 on operational activity across the board. So, we are generally 24 aware of the operational patterns of activity that prevail in 25 various overseas stations. On that basis we are in a position

1 to advise the DDO or Directorate as to the level of performance,
2 the kind of activity conducted, the quality, the proper or
3 improper degree of emphasis. We maintain an overview on behalf
4 of DDO.

5 Mr. Goldsmith. Is your concentration oriented towards
6 counterintelligence threats of a foreign nature?

7 Mr. Tovar. Yes, totally.

8 Mr. Goldsmith. You would not be concerned at all with 9 counterintelligence threats domestically?

10 Mr. Tovar. None whatsoever.

11 Mr. Goldsmith. Is it correct to say that would be the 12 responsibility of the Bureau?

13 Mr. Tovar. Absolutely.

14 ~~Mr. Goldsmith.~~ Now, Lee Harvey Oswald returned from the 15 Soviet Union in 1962. While in the Sovietion Union he worked
16 as a worker in a radio factory. Upon his return I imagine there
17 was someone concerned about his being a counterintelligence
18 threat. Is it fair to say, and I do not want to ask you leading 19 questions but would it be fair to say that would be more
20 the responsibility of the Bureau rather than the Agency upon 21 his actual return?

22 Mr. Tovar. Yes, the question whether or not he was, let 23 us say, a counterintelligence threat.

24 Mr. Goldsmith. KGB agent?

25 Mr. Tovar. That would be a Bureau concern, no question

1 about that.

2 Mr. Goldsmith. However, would the Agency make any effort
3 to interview Oswald while Oswald was enroute from the Soviet 4 Union to the United States?

5 Mr. Tovar. You are speaking of what the Agency might have 6 done in '63 or '62?

7 Mr. Goldsmith. '62.

8 Mr. Tovar. Again, we are speculating concerning the 9 intelligence of the men who were in charge then. Today I
10 would like to think we would be interested in what he is doing.
11 At the time I don't know. I would think, why not. On the 12 other hand, I couldn't say they would or should be interested.
13 It was not their primary precise prerogative. I think if they 14 could, as I assume they did, the Bureau would discharge its 15 responsibilities vis-a-vis any American of questionable
16 propensity, I should think they would be deferring to the 17 Bureau.

18 Mr. Goldsmith. That would be the aspect of Oswald where 19 there was a concern that he posed a counterintelligence threat.
20 What about the fact that Oswald may have had positive intelli-
21 gence information that would have been helpful to the Agency?
22 That would not be within the jurisdiction of the Bureau?

23 Mr. Tovar. I think in that context it might have been 24 appropriate for the Agency, if the assumed the point you made,
25 to seek an interview with him. I think the appropriate

1 vehicle for that would have been the Domestic Contact Division
2 which I think handled most of the contacts referred to in this 3 memorandum.

4 Mr. Goldsmith. What is the function of the Domestic 5 Contact Division?

6 Mr. Tovar. They are responsible for intelligence that
7 can be checked properly and legally in the United States
8 normally through American businessmen or American persons and 9 nonofficials who travel abroad and acquire intelligence of 10 interest. This is not just USSR. It could be any other 11 country. Their primary field of activity is to contact and 12 debrief on a voluntary basis, if they so choose to respond,
13 Americans who return from overseas.

14 Mr. Goldsmith. I notice that the Committee's inquiry
15 concerning the CI's policy as to returning American defectors
16 was routed to your staff, CI Staff. When the memo was prepared
17 by the CI Staff for the Committee, was it done with the thought
18 of representing the entire agency or just the CI Staff?

19 Mr. Tovar. It is difficult for us to presume to speak for 20 the entire Agency. I think on this matter we are speaking for 21 the Directorate of Operations, not for the entire Agency.

22 Mr. Goldsmith. Fine. That is really the area with which 23 I was concerned anyway, Directorate of Operations.

24 Mr. Tovar. The only other element of the Directorate of 25 Operations that would be of an interest in this type of thing, which might be construed as having an interest in this type

1
2 of activity, would be the SC Division. On this I think the
3 CI staff could be considered as speaking for the Directorate.

4 Mr. Goldsmith. Is the Domestic Contact Division part of 5 the CI Staff?

6 Mr. Tovar. No, part of the Directorate of Operations.

7 Mr. Goldsmith. The response of the Agency dated April
8 20, 1978, which appears in CIA Number 1818, indicates that 9 contact seems to be based on opportunity and circumstance.
10 Then it goes on to say only ten of the 117 persons have had 11 any contact with CIA. Would it be possible for you to go into 12 more detail on what is meant by opportunity and circumstance?

13 Mr. Tovar. In the absence of a policy, of a guideline, a
14 procedure, internal instruction which says you will debrief
15 Americans who return from having resided in the USSR, in the 16 absence of that, this thing is left to chance obviously. I
17 cannot explain to you how the names of these 11 passed the desk
18 of whoever was in charge at the time, but assuming they did,
19 my guess, and it is really only a guess, would be that the 20 person who read that, whatever document it was, would say,
21 "Hmmp! He looks like he might be interesting", and perhaps 22 would then get in contact with CCD and suggest if they get in 23 contact with a person, let us say he is known to be living in 24 New York, suggest that they might want to seek out his location
25 and if possible interview him.

1 I think it would be a matter of chance in the sense that 2 the analyst or whoever it was who reviewed that document, might 3 react, and yet he or she might not, too, depending on how they
4 woke up that morning. It is sheer whimsy.

5 Mr. Goldsmith. Let me explain to you why the question
6 whether or not it was standard operating procedure to debrief
7 returning defectors is important to the Committee. Since
8 the assassination of the President, there has arisen a group of 9 researchers who have reviewed the Warren Commission Report and 10 have reviewed releases made under the Freedom of Information
11 Act by the CIA and the FBI.

12 Having reviewed these materials the argument has been made
13 that Oswald received unusual treatment at the hands of the CIA.
14 One example of this unusual treatment is that there is no
15 record of Oswald having been debriefed by the CIA upon his 16 return. For that reason, we are focusing on this issue. Is 17 there any way you can give us guidance on how to respond to 18 that question?

19 Mr. Tovar. I can't because I am speculating every step
20 along the way. I would hesitate to say more than Oswald
21 simply didn't connect with whoever happened to be looking --
22 let us assume his name appeared. Was his name in the list?

23 Mr. Goldsmith. No. That is the list of people who were 24 debriefed.

25 Mr. Tovar. One hundred seventeen?

1 Mr. Goldsmith. I haven't seen the list of 117 people.

2 Mr. Tovar. What is this?

3 Mr. Goldsmith. That is a list of 350 odd people I was 4 going to ask you about. However, since you don't have knowledge
5 of the 117, I am not going to ask you about them.

6 Mr. Tovar. If Oswald's name was on the list, I can't 7 explain why he might not have been contacted. Maybe he didn't
8 appear attractive or interesting enough. I don't know what 9 information might have been given with these names on the list,
10 such as a memo from the FBI or State Department, whoever had 11 originated it, what they said that would have titilated the 12 analyst who might have seen it that would have elicited a
13 response on the part of the analyst who would say "Ah, let us
14 look into this further."

15 Mr. Goldsmith. In particular, a lot of focus has been 16 given to Mr. Robert Edward Webster, who appears in CIA Number
17 1820 who defected approximately the same time that Oswald did
18 and returned at approximately the same time that Oswald did and 19 who was debriefed by the CIA for two weeks in Virginia.

20 Mr. Tovar. I didn't know that he was. It doesn't say so 21 here.

22 Mr. Goldsmith. That does not indicate the extend of the 23 debriefing. That information was obtained independently by 24 this Committee.

25 Mr. Tovar. The name means nothing to me so I can't

1 enlighten you on it.

2 Mr. Goldsmith. Does the CIA have any affiliation with 3 organizations in the United States who might be responsible for 4 debriefing someone?

5 Mr. Tovar. Not that I am aware of.

6 Mr. Goldsmith. In other words, if anyone is going to be 7 debriefed it would be by the Domestic Contact Division?

8 Mr. Tovar. In the intelligence sense. In the sense of 9 elucidation of intelligence, DCD would do it. A different type
10 of inquiry, personal investigation, the Office of Security, or 11 whoever it works through, would be the one.

12 The one we are talking about, DCD is the only organization
13 I know of. I can visualize a circumstance under which operating 14 components might seek out an individual or might have in times
15 past but I can't think of a case in point in my own recollec-
16 tion. I would say, given the strictures on our operating in 17 the United States, we would rely upon DCD to do it if they had 18 any positive intelligence connotation. If it were of an 19 operational nature today, the Foreign Resources Division might 20 pursue it.

21 Mr. Goldsmith. Yes.

22 Mr. Tovar. It is the division level of the Directorate.

23
24 I think I had

25 better defer to the other people on that. That is roughly where

1 it stands. They certainly would not have interest in debrief-
2 ing defectors that I am aware of.

3 Mr. Goldsmith. In any event, for the purposes of summary,
4 there is today no standard operating procedure of interviewing
5 returning defectors?

6 Mr. Tovar. Right, insofar as I am aware, there is none.

7 Mr. Goldsmith. There is no standard operating procedure
8 between the Bureau and the CIA which would coordinate any effort
9 to contact returning defectors and share information?

10 Mr. Tovar. None that I am aware of.

11 Mr. Goldsmith. Turning to another area which I would like 12 to get into briefly, would you define what a 201 file is?

13 Mr. Tovar. A 201 file is a file or files -- it could be 14 several volumes to it -- which relates to an individual. It
15 might pose a dicotomy, a 201 file and project file. A project
16 file might deal with an activity, say collection operations in 17 Timbucktu, a broad scale of activity involving several numbers
18 of people, there might be several 201 files, A, B, C, who were 19 associates in that project. The 201 file would be on the 20 individual himself.

21 Mr. Goldsmith. It would contain primarily biographic
22 information?

23 Mr. Tovar. No. It would contain a much vaster -- some 24 of them might contain one sheet of paper with name, rank and 25 date of birth. But if the association with him developed and

1 became more extensive, it might contain a considerable amount
2 of information. If he became involved with this operation it
3 might include operational material, intelligence operations
4 as well, all part of the 201 complex.

5 The point I am making is that it is an individual file
6 as opposed to an activity file.

7 Mr. Goldsmith. If you wanted to learn about the operations
8 that an individual was involved in, would you go to his 201
9 file or to his operations file?

10 Mr. Tovar. I would go to the 201 file first. There might 11 not be an operations file. In fact, in the vast majority of 12 the 201 cases there are no operational files because there is 13 no hard and fast rule on when you open a 201 file or who opens
14 a 201 file.

15 If I, for example, am overseas and I become interested in 16 a person who looks to me to have considerable promise from the 17 operational standpoint, say a local foreign type, I might give 18 my own local checks, I might examine my own files to see if I
19 know anything about him. Then I say to headquarters "here is 20 Joe Doe. He is interesting to me for these reasons. Will you
21 please check against headquarters records and other agencies
22 and let me know if you have anything of interest on him."

23 I might not ask for a 201 file. Headquarters might then,
24 because they thought he was interesting, open a 201 file.
25 Conversely, I might likewise say this looks terribly interest-

1 ing Please open a 201 file and give me all of the information
2 you can collect on him."

3 Mr. Goldsmith. I understand that the fact that someone 4 has a 201 file does not mean at all that the individual was 5 involved in any operations of the Agency. If you wanted to get 6 information of an operational nature, would you go both to the 7 201 file and operations file?

8 Mr. Tovar. Assuming there was information of an opera-
9 tional nature?

10 Mr. Goldsmith. Yes.

11 Mr. Tovar. Yes, indeed we would.

12 Mr. Goldsmith. If someone is an agent of the CIA -- I
13 am not referring now to case officers or staff agents -- some-
14 one is a field agent for the Agency, would that fact be indi-
15 cated in the 201 file?

16 Mr. Tovar. Yes.

17 Mr. Goldsmith. In the Directorate of Operations someone 18 might open up a 201 file on an individual if the person was 19 of a potential positive intelligence significance?

20 Mr. Tovar. Or counterintelligence, either one.

21 Mr. Goldsmith. That was going to be my question. The 22 CI Staff in particular, when would you have occasion to open a
23 201 file?

24 Mr. Tovar. CI staff would not necessarily be the only one
25 to open a 201 file. In the case of a person of CI interest,

1 a field station might have a counter-person I described earlier
2 and become interested in him because he did have some CI
3 attraction or interest. The station itself or the division would
4 open the 201 file. It would not be us. The CI Staff as a rule
5 is not involved in that type of thing.

6 At this stage of the game since we are not operating and 7 we are not out soliciting new contacts, we are not working in 8 that sense of the term, we don't to my knowledge originate 201
9 files.

10 Mr. Goldsmith. The CI Staff does not open up 201 files?

11 Mr. Tovar. There is no reason that we couldn't.

12 Mr. Goldsmith. As a practical matter?

13 Mr. Tovar. As practical matter it does not work that way.
14 Our research is primarily focused upon established cases, cases
15 that may even be dead, terminated, or dormant, or even current 16 in certain cases, but as a rule not very many. 201 file is 17 opened by someone else. We may examine those files and review
18 them. We do review other activities. But the 201 file would 19 be in existence. They should not be created by ourselves.

20 In former days when CI Staff files were segregated from 21 the rest of the Directorate it might have been different. I
22 don't know.

23 Mr. Goldsmith. When was that?

24 Mr. Tovar. Say prior to 1974, 1957. Today our files are 25 integrated in the files of the Directorate or it is in the

1 process of being integrated. We have been working on this.
2 This is one of our major final exercises in the past two or 3 three years to make sure, when you go to the central files and 4 research a name, if there is something in the CI Staff reposi-
5 tory that will turn up when you are making a check of the 6 index.

7 Mr. Goldsmith. Will most 201 files be open as a result of 8 information coming into headquarters from the field, one of 9 the field stations?

10 Mr. Tovar. Yes, the vast majority. In years before when 11 they has such programs as MH Chaos, I assumed they opened 201
12 files of their own.

13 Mr. Goldsmith. What is that?

14 Mr. Tovar. MH Chaos-program?

15 Mr. Goldsmith. For the record, will you indicate what that 16 program is?

17 Mr. Tovar. I frankly would rather not because I don't
18 know the precise definition of the program. It was a program
19 which has been described in the press as domestic surveillance.
20 Whether that is the correct proper designation, I don't know.
21 Our CI Staff does not normally open a 201 file. We don't have 22 occasion to.

23 Mr. Goldsmith. Do you know what the term CI/SIG stands
24 for?

25 Mr. Tovar. Counter Intelligence/Special Investigative

1 Group, I think it is. Investigative or investigations, I don't 2 know which.

3 Mr. Goldsmith. Is that group still in existence today?

4 Mr. Tovar. No.

5 Mr. Goldsmith. When did it go out of existence?

6 Mr. Tovar. I don't know exactly. Before my time. I
7 think it ended in '73, '74, '75. I am not sure.

8 Mr. Goldsmith. Do you know what the function of that 9 group was?

10 Mr. Tovar. Only in a very vague sort of way. I have heard
11 about it, it was the investigative group in the CI Staff that 12 investigated whatever the CI Staff did in those days. I can't 13 speak to that with any first hand knowledge. I know some things
14 they did but I would be hesitant to make a general definition
15 of their function.

16 Mr. Goldsmith. Do you know whether the function of that 17 group was to investigate Agency employees who were suspected
18 of having been penetrated?

19 Mr. Tovar. I think, because I have seen nothing in writing
20 on the subject, but I have been given to understand that was one
21 of their functions in the context of their responsibilities
22 that was included. But I am no authority on the subject.

23 Mr. Goldsmith. Do you know whether CI/SIG would have 24 occasion to open a 201 file?

25 Mr. Tovar. I don't know. I can speculate. I don't know.

1 Mr. Goldsmith. What would your speculation be?

2 Mr. Tovar. I would speculate in the days when they were
3 functioning they probably did. You have a very unauthoritative
4 witness on that subject.

5 Mr. Goldsmith. What is the relationship if any between 6 the Office of Security and the CI Staff?

7 Mr. Tovar. We have basically different functions. The 8 Office of Security is under the Directorate of Administration
9 and is responsible for the personnel and physical security of 10 the entire division. It focuses on personnel security and 11 physical security.

12 The CI staff as I described it, is an element of DDO
13 concerned with research and analysis and operation and coordi-
14 nation. The relation between us and the Office of Security is 15 simply that between us and another fraternal element of the 16 Agency which has responsibility which sometimes comes close
17 together.

18 Mr. Goldsmith. Does the Office of Security maintain 19 files which contain information of a derogatory nature on 20 individuals, not necessarily limited to Agency employees?

21 Mr. Tovar. To my knowledge they don't. My assumption is 22 if I have never seen what is in their files -- my assumption is 23 that they have files only on Agency personnel. I cannot 24 visualize circumstances under which they would maintain infor-
25 mation on people who are not in the Agency or who had not been

1 applicates for employment and then left.

2 Mr. Goldsmith. Is the Office of Security interested in
3 maintaining information so that if in the future an individual
4 was being considered for employment in some capacity with the 5 Agency the Security Office would have that information on 6 him?

7 Mr. Tovar. I cannot visualize that heppening today.

8 Mr. Goldsmith. I would like to ask you to read CIA 0786,
9 which is a document that this Committee obtained from the 10 Office of Security files on Lee Harvey Oswald.

11 Mr. Tovar. That sort of suggests they maintained such 12 information then. I still cannot visualize there doing it
13 today.

14 Mr. Goldsmith. Do you think the function of the Office of 15 Security may be different today from what it was in 1959 with 16 regard to maintaining such files?

17 Mr. Tovar. The function, I would use the term function,
18 I would say the policy of the Office as far as the way the 19 office operates today. I don't know what they do intrinsically.
20 I cannot visualize their maintaining that kind of current
21 records today. Maybe this is historic, it was in the files
22 since 1969. With the injunction against destroying files,
23 the files remained.

24 If it was John Q. Doe appearing today in a similar context
25 I would not visualize the Office of Security maintaining this

1 kind of document.

2 Mr. Goldsmith. To whom would this document go today?

3 Mr. Tovar. You mean from the State Department?

4 Mr. Goldsmith. Yes, a State Department document. Which
5 is indicating that an American citizen is giving information,
6 intelligence information to a foreign country, to whom in the 7 CIA would that document go?

8 Mr. Tovar. I am not sure it would come to the CIA at all
9 because the CIA does not have responsibility for that type of 10 person. I think it would go to the FBI.

11 Mr. Goldsmith. Even though the individual is overseas?

12 Mr. Tovar. Yes. He is an American. Again, this is 13 speculation. I don't know what moves the person who releases
14 cables to the Moscow Embassy today. He might decide or some-15 body here in State Security might decide that CIA should see 16 this. In that event, it probably would go to the Office of 17 Security as a matter of information..

18 Mr. Goldsmith. Would information contained in this type
19 of telegram normally lead to the opening of a 201 file?

20 Mr. Tovar. I would think not.

21 Mr. Goldsmith. Why not?

22 Mr. Tovar. There is nothing that suggests here this 23 is going to be of continuing interest to the CIA. This is 24 1959. Let us say in 1962 the man came back and another message
25 came over and it indicated that he was available for discussion

1 or was of interest and so on and maybe there are reasons for
2 debriefing, I can visualize a 201 being opened if the matter
3 were of apparent continuing interest. I can see no reason why
4 a 201 would be opened in this case.

5 Mr. Goldsmith. What if this telegram was followed by a
6 cable indicating that the individual had decided to defect?

7 Mr. Tovar. What do you mean? He is applying for Soviet 8 citizenship, so he is defecting here?

9 Mr. Goldsmith. You are correct. I withdraw the question.

10 Mr. Tovar. I think basically my point is that it is a 11 fact that a 201 need not be opened up on this type -- this is 12 a casual piece of information. If one could eliminate the 13 name Lee Harvey Oswald, which raises flages, it is John Doe
14 and there is nothing in this -- someone might say what an SOB
15 this is but there is nothing to indicate anything but an 16 unfortunate incidental event, I would say today, "why bother".
17 We have enough to do without opening 201 files on people of 18 that nature." The encyclopedic approach is not one that we 19 try to apply.

20 Bear in mind, I am doing a lot of speculating here. I
21 perhaps shouldn't.

22 Mr. Goldsmith. You really aren't aware of what the 23 procedure would be in 1959 for dealing with a telegram like 24 this?

25 Mr. Tovar. No. I would still say today I would not expect

1 that kind of document to be retained in Agency files anywhere.
2 You know, inter-departmental correspondence is firing paper in 3 all directions all the time on an informational basis. That 4 does not mean it is retained.

5 Mr. Goldsmith. With regard to this document, after 1959
6 your testimony is more or less speculation but you are saying
7 that today you don't think that this type of document would be 8 retained and have any special significance?

9 Mr. Tovar. I don't think so. I am scratching my head
10 trying to visualize circumstances under which it could be 11 retained. There is nothing of interest to the Agency. There
12 is nothing of immediate counterintelligence interest. I don't 13 know who would retain it or why.

14 Mr. Goldsmith. For the purpose of clarification, if the 15 CI asked that of the CIA, by that I mean the counterintelligence
16 aspect of the CIA concerned primarily with a foreign counter-
17 intelligence threat, in other words, foreign nationals, foreign 18 citizens?

19 Mr. Tovar. You are asking is it?

20 Mr. Goldsmith. Yes.

21 Mr. Tovar. Primarily yes, but not solely. We are 22 concerned with Americans of counterintelligence interest. If 23 an overseas station is informed by somebody that an American 24 is contacting the Soviets and is apparently engaged in what 25 looks like espionage, we would become interested. That is

1 espionage I am talking about.

2 Mr. Goldsmith. I understand.

3 Mr. Tovar. You realize of course with the sensitivity
4 of Americans investigations of Americans we have to be an we
5 are extremely careful in making the determination as to when a
6 person is of counterintelligence interest. We have very strict
7 rules and regulations on the consideration of investigations,
8 considerations retaining information, the rights of a person.
9 The criteria are very stringent. They are under executive
10 order and Attorney General guidelines. We don't approach this 11 casually at all. It is proscribed activity.

12 Mr. Goldsmith. Both as to Americans?

13 Mr. Tovar. Primarily Americans. The Attorney General
14 is not concerned essentially with non-US persons. Our focus of 15 sensitivity is on US persons who are US citizens or residents, 16 aliens or US entities, organizations, which are primarily 17 American in composition.

18 Mr. Goldsmith. Again, would you focus outside the borders
19 of the United States?

20 Mr. Tovar. Yes. Inside US is FBI.

21 Mr. Goldsmith. Before when you made reference to a 22 station overseas, you became aware of an American who might 23 be involved in espionage for another country, you were refer-
24 ring to an American who was living abroad, is that correct?

25 Mr. Tovar. Yes, or traveling abroad.

1 Mr. Goldsmith. I would like to show you CIA Number 788
2 which is the field personality file request form that was used
3 to open Oswald's 201 file. In the middle of the page there is a
4 box which states the term "Other identification". If someone 5 wrote the number or letter "AG" down, what does that stand for?

6 Mr. Tovar. I have no idea. What are they referring
7 to here? I cannot think of anything.

8 Mr. Goldsmith. The form also indicates that Oswald's
9 file was restricted. Do you know of any reason why Oswald's
10 file would have been restricted?

11 Mr. Tovar. Where is that?

12 Mr. Goldsmith. Here.

13 Mr. Tovar. No, I don't know. I don't know what criteria
14 they would have used at that time or even today for that matter, 15 to open a restricted file. Bear in mind, there is a lot of 16 latitude given to the individual who opened these things. He 17 could be a very junior analyst who for reasons of his own
18 decided he would do it this way. Supervision would not neces-
19 sarily get down there very closely behind him.

20 Mr. Goldsmith. Do you know what the inter-agency source
21 register is?

22 Mr. Tovar. Yes.

23 Mr. Goldsmith. What is that?

24 Mr. Tovar. As I understand it, it is a register maintained
25 in which other agencies of the government register their

1 interest in a person. Let us take, for example, you are working
2 for the Army Intelligence and you are in Germany and you become
3 interested in Mr. Smith. Let us say you check Mr. Smith with 4 the CIA and with the other agencies and in so doing you wish
5 to have him recorded under the ISR, Inter Agency Source
6 Registry, the entry of his name in the ISR will normally flag
7 prior interest on the part of somebody in the government, in 8 this case you are in the Army.

9 I don't know what this symbol is but they put two asterisks
10 which indicates to anybody else who checks that name later the 11 US Army has a prior interest in that person.

12 Mr. Goldsmith. What kind of interest would that be?

13 Mr. Tovar. Intelligence interest to me, potential
14 intelligence interest. Again, the ISR may have ramifications
15 that I am not aware of. In my experience the ISR has been the 16 place we go to check, say, a new or potentially new source to 17 see if there is any other previously established government
18 interest in the person which means keep your hands off. The 19 military rely upon this very heavily because we coordinate their 20 clandestine intelligence operations.

21 Mr. Goldsmith. Would an ISR index be checked prior to 22 opening up a 201 file as a matter of routine?

23 Mr. Tovar. It has been so many years since I have done
24 this. The way we have become mechanized today I would assume 25 that a normal file check through the central files of the

1 Directorate would include or would turn up anything that was
2 in the ISR. I am just not sure how it works.

3 Mr. Goldsmith. If someone were an agent of another
4 intelligence organization would that be indicated in the 201
5 file?

6 Mr. Tovar. If it were an agent, agent of another service,
7 that would be in the ISR only if it had been of interest to 8 another agency which said "Put Joh Doe's name in the ISR and 9 indicate he is a US Army intelligence source," at the very 10 least a person of interest to the US Army Intelligence Agency.
11 It would not be there if the Army had not put it in. So you
12 might not know.

13 Again, I think almost any agent of the military would rely
14 upon the ISr, I would think almost certainly would be entered 15 in the ISr, because they want to maintain control of it, to 16 make sure nobody else gets in the way arnd interferes with their 17 operations.

18 Mr. Goldsmith. So if someone were an agent it would in 19 all likelihood be indicated in the ISR and assuming the ISR
20 is checked by a CI person prior to opening up the file, he would 21 take note of that fact?

22 Mr. Tovar. Say that again. Some of this is pretty fuzzy
23 to me. I don't want to mislead you by extrapolating from my 24 own ignorance.

25 Mr. Goldsmith. If someone is an agent of another

1 intelligence service, that fact would be noted in the ISR?

2 Mr. Tovar. Another US intelligence service?

3 Mr. Goldsmith. Yes.

4 Mr. Tovar. A US military intelligence service only, yes,
5 the military intelligence service would normally be registered
6 in the ISR. Other than the military, the FBI intelligence
7 assets would not be registered in the ISR to my knowledge.

8 Mr. Goldsmith. But the military tends to make that list-
9 ing?

10 Mr. Tovar. In my experience the military has been the 11 primary element involved in the use and the exploitation of the 12 ISR. Let me interpose another point here. I am not an expert
13 in these procedures and I am way out of touch. You live most 14 of your life overseas, you don't do these things back at 15 headquarters. These procedures may be quite different in 16 actuality. I am groping through my memory to see how they were 17 dealt with on an active basis.

18 A fellow like Bill Donnelly might enlighten you much more
19 than I could about the ISR.

20 Mr. Goldsmith. I understand that. I think you can tell
21 I am not pressing you for detail on it.

22 Mr. Tovar. I would like to help you. I am prepared to 23 speculate as I have been doing on things that are somewhat
24 beyond my direct experience and direct responsibility. There
25 is a limit.

Mr. Goldsmith. Now, if someone checking ISR notes that

1
2 an individual is a military intelligence agent would the fact
3 of that agency status be noted and a 201 file opened on that 4 individual?

5 Mr. Tovar. I am not sure. I would think it would be.
6 Again, I am speculating. I think almost certainly if I were 7 doing a file check on a person whose name came from one of the 8 field stations and it turned up the fact he was already
9 registered in the ISR, if a person is of interest let us say,
10 to the US Army Intelligence, that would automatically sort of 11 proscribe further attempts on my part to go in and get involved.
12 I think a notation would be made in the 201 file.

13 Mr. Goldsmith. As a practical matter that would be a good
14 reason for making the notation?

15 Mr. Tovar. Yes.

16 Mr. Goldsmith. Does the CIA regularly use the ISR?

17 Mr. Tovar. We maintain it as I understand it.

18 Mr. Goldsmith. So if someone is an agent of the CIA,
19 would that fact be noted in the ISR?

20 Mr. Tovar. No, I don't believe it would. Again, you
21 can check on that to make certain. Donnelly I think can help
22 much better on it. I cannot visualize all our sensitive sources
23 being registered there.

24 Mr. Goldsmith. Do you know how internal memoranda prepared
25 by James Angleton when he was head of the CIA Staff, how internal

1 paperwork relating to the JFK assassination was prepared and 2 subsequently stored?

3 Mr. Tovar. No, I really don't. I have no idea. I have 4 seen no documents on that subject. I have seen nothing either
5 originated or approved or signed by him. You realize that any 6 files on this subject are dead files. I am just doing my 7 current job. Until you people became interested, we were not
8 dealing with them on a daily basis.

9 Mr. Goldsmith. What happens to the personal files of an 10 individual such as Angletons or even yourself after leaving the 11 CI Staff?

12 Mr. Tovar. After leaving the staff or leaving the Agency?

13 Mr. Goldsmith. Let us take the first after leaving the CI
14 Staff, what would happen to your personal papers?

15 Mr. Tovar. The personal file, official file on the person
16 in the Agency is retained by the Office of Personnel.

17 Mr. Goldsmith. That would govern your personal file,
18 your personal papers. What about internal memos, soft copy
19 type files, what would happen to them?

20 Mr. Tovar. Having been only one element of the organiza-
21 tion during my career, it is hard to say.

22 Mr. Goldsmith. I am not talking now about personnel file.
23 I am talking about soft copy, working files that an individual
24 may maintain.

25 Mr. Tovar. You mean the files he himself as an individual

1 maintained?

2 Mr. Goldsmith. Yes.

3 Mr. Tovar. Most individuals don't maintain personal files,
4 I don't think. I would say, for example, anything I write,
5 I dictate a memorandum and I send it to anybody you want to 6 name, in a sense that is my work, I have done it but I don't
7 keep a personal file on that. That goes into my office file.
8 It is part of the office chronological file which is maintained
9 by my secretary. Let us say multiply that by 500,000 over a
10 period of years the files grow. At the time I leave I am
11 incidental in a sense. I just happen to be the person in the 12 job at the time. The files will still be there.

13 There is a normal retirement and destruction under normal
14 conditions, retirement and destruction program which eliminates
15 the accumulation of excessive useless material.

16 Mr. Goldsmith. Most paperwork would go in this office
17 chrono file?

18 Mr. Tovar. Yes, anything of significance would go in the 19 office chrono file. Anything I write to the Directorate of 20 Operations, DDO, CI, it is normally part of the chrono files.
21 If I want it, it is there. It is my own file in the sense that 22 when I am on the job I have total access to it. If I left
23 the job and wanted to look at it six months later, it is still 24 in the file and I would ask somebody who took my place could I
25 see what I wrote. I would not take it with me.

1 Mr. Goldsmith. If it is an office chrono file does that
2 meant that everything is filed in a chronological order?

3 Mr. Tovar. Not necessarily. Here you ought to consult
4 my secretary. There might be a subject breakdown. Ordinarily
5 the front office, we don't maintain a lot of files. There is 6 no point in it. Let us say something I signed off on, here
7 is a case in point, memos that are signed on my behalf or 8 that I might have signed, if I were there that day, I would 9 not maintain that in my front office as a rule. That would 10 probably be maintained by the office of origination. I think 11 if I signed it my secretary would certainly maintain a log of 12 things that had gone through me for signature. But I don't 13 think, I could be wrong on this, I don't think as a rule she 14 would maintain a routine memorandum just because I happened to 15 sign it because I sign so many things on that staff. I sign
16 off on a host of things which are not really my creation. I
17 am representing the staff as a whole.

18 Mr. Goldsmith. Do you know when Mr. Angleton left the CI
19 Staff?

20 Mr. Tovar. Yes. I am not certain of the precise date.
21 I think it was either December '74 or January '75. That is the 22 position of Chief, Counterintelligence?

23 Mr. Goldsmith. Yes.

24 Mr. Tovar. I believe he may have remained in the office
25 for several months after that before he finally retired.

1 Mr. Goldsmith. Do you know whether, after Mr. Angleton
2 left the CI Staff, any type of followup was done by that staff
3 on the Nosenko issue?

4 Mr. Tovar. Followup work?

5 Mr. Goldsmith. Yes. For example, one of the issues, the 6 key issue with regard to Mr. Nosenko was his bona fides.

7 Mr. Tovar. Yes, indeed.

8 Mr. Goldsmith. After Mr. Angleton left was any additional 9 analytical work done on that issue?

10 Mr. Tovar. A very detailed study was done by my predecessor
11 George Kalaris. A very thorough analysis was made of the whole
12 Nosenko question.

13 Mr. Goldsmith. Are you referring to the Hart Report?

14 Mr. Tovar. Yes.

15 Mr. Goldsmith. Other than the Hart report was any type of 16 followup work or analytical work done after Mr. Angleton's
17 departure?

18 Mr. Tovar. I don't know for certain. The Hart Report is 19 a thick piece of paper. In the preparation of that report
20 there were probably all kinds of drafts, scratchings and sort
21 of preliminary jobs. All that I know would be in the context
22 of that report. All I know would be some representations in 23 response to the Director's inquiry or your inquiry or someone
24 else's inquiry as to what happened, what did it say, what does
25 it mean, that type of thing, but really correlary efforts.

1 Mr. Goldsmith. Think for a moment on the Nosenko issue.
2 As Chief of the CI Staff, if it were demonstrated to you very
3 clearly that the story given by Mr. Nosenko on Lee Harvey
4 Oswald was full of contradictions and in addition to contra-
5 dictions, it was in many ways simply incredible, what impact
6 would that have on the Agency's assessment of Mr. Nosenko as 7 being a bona fide rather than a dispatched defector?

8 Mr. Tovar. Well, it is difficult to answer. You are 9 posing a question in a narrow sense. You are focusing on one
10 point, Nosenko vis-a-vis Oswald and contradictions that may 11 emerge there. I would answer by saying that again I am not an 12 expert on Nosenko. I don't profess to have a full grasp of 13 his bona fides or anything related to it.

14 I would say that question alone would not be enough to 15 satisfy me that the inquiry had been made carefully. There is 16 much more to it than what Nosenko had to say about Oswald.
17 There are more aspects about the bona fides issue, more than I
18 could give you today.

19 Mr. Goldsmith. I have read the Hart Report.

20 Mr. Tovar. He tried to deal with the whole consideration,
21 the whole Oswald, the handling, the methodology. He did not
22 go into every jot and tittle of the issue.

23 Mr. Goldsmith. In fact, the Hart Report did not mention
24 the word "Oswald" even one time. Even so, the question I have,
25 if it were demonstrated to you that Nosenko's story on the

1 Oswald issue is untrue, cannot be believed, would that have any
2 impact on the Agency's assessment of him as a bona fied?

3 Mr. Tovar. The first reaction would be I would be deeply
4 distressed and concerned, I would want to know more about it.
5 You have to extrapolate from me to the Agency. Other people
6 have views on this other than myself. If you carried this thing
7 further and convinced everybody, the point you made is valid,
8 then you would have --

9 Mr. Goldsmith. We are talking hypothetically now. Let 10 us go beyond you. If it were demonstrated to the Director of 11 the Central intelligence Agency that the story given by Nosenko
12 on Oswald -- I am not talking about any of the other information
13 he gave, but on Oswald -- simply cannot be believed because,
14 A, part of it is incredible, B, it is full of contradictions,
15 what effect do you think that would have on the Agency's 16 assessment of him as a bona fide defector?

17 Mr. Tovar. I literally don't know. I am not sure what 18 the comparative weight of that point would be when considered
19 against the backdrop of the full Nosenko question.

20 Mr. Goldsmith. As Chief of the CI Staff, you would 21 personally be troubled by that?

22 Mr. Tovar. Yes, I think I would be troubled by it. I
23 would be troubled. I would be troubled that our current 24 assessment is wrong. That would trouble me.

25 Again, I would say, too, if this is a serious proposition

1 you are making, let us say you adduced a number of analysts
2 who examined this thing thoroughly and were in a position of 3 making that kind of judgment, I would say, "I want to have 4 these analysts talk to my analysts because I am not in a posi-
5 tion to make that kind of judgment."

6 Mr. Goldsmith. First of all, I am not making the statement
7 that Nosenko's story on Oswald is inaccurate in any way.

8 Secondly, even if the story is inaccurate, I don't want
9 to suggest that because of that anyone on this Committee has 10 any feeling that that means Nosenko is not bona fide. My 11 question is really very limited. A, if it were demonstrated 12 that the story on Oswald is inaccurate, what impact would that 13 have on your overall assessment?

14 Mr. Tovar. You mean demonstrably inaccurate?

15 Mr. Goldsmith. Yes.

16 Mr. Tovar. It would have to be examined. It would have 17 to be examined the full panoply of the whole Oswald issue.
18 I would say we will get this team of analysts and we will 19 fight it out. We are talking about hypothesis.

20 Mr. Goldsmith. Yes. I would prefer to stay away from the 21 term "fighting it out" because there is no one here who is in 22 the posture of making a fighting issue out of it.

23 I no longer have any questions. I will have questions to 24 ask whoever on your staff participated in the preparation of 25 the memo that we discussed earlier.

1 Normally whenever a witness has an opportunity to testify
2 before the Committee at a hearing, the Committee gives him five
3 minutes at the end to make a statement. This is not a hearing.
4 However, if you would like to make a statement for the record,
5 feel free to do so. If not, you will be given a chance to 6 verify the record for accuracy.

7 Mr. Tovar. Since I have no position to present and no
8 point to make it is probably improper to make a statement.
9 The only think I would reiterate is that I have been sort of 10 speculating here in many respects. Bear in mind there is an 11 area here where I have a purview that is perhaps valid. We 12 are talking about a lot of things which are way beyond my 13 immediate experience and certainly my current responsibility.

14 I would say, take some of my speculation with a grain of 15 salt, because I don't mean to be dogmatic on these things.
16 The procedure for handling the 201 file, there are some GS-7
17 girls down the line who could tell you much more about the 201
18 files than I would ever be able to compile for you. They are 19 the ones you really should talk to.

20 Things like the ISR, I know the ISR in a limited framework
21 from the standpoint of a guy overseas who is dealing frequently
22 with the military and registers military sources in the ISR
23 and checks the ISR either on behalf of the military or to see
24 if they have already registered prior interest and so on. There 25 may be other aspects of the thing that you should ge more professional advice on.

I think your questions have been reasonable. I have found no objection to try to meet you more than halfway on it.

Mr. Goldsmith. Fine. Thank you very much.
