Re: OIG-2019-00119

Dear John Greenewald, Jr.:

This is in response to your Freedom of Information Act (FOIA) request dated March 1, 2019, which was received by the Office of Inspector General (OIG) on the same date. You requested the following information under the FOIA, 5 U.S.C. § 552: a copy of records, electronic or otherwise, of the following:

- 1) FOIA Case Log for calendar year 2018;
- 2) FOIA Appeals Log for calendar year 2018; and
- 3) Mandatory Declassification Review (MDR) Log for calendar year 2018.

For purposes of this request, you have been categorized as a representative of the news media. As such, we may charge you for some of our duplication costs, but we will not charge you for our search or review costs; you also are entitled to up to 100 pages of photocopies (or an equivalent volume) for free. See 43 C.F.R. § 2.39 If, after taking into consideration your fee category entitlements, our processing costs are less than $50.00, we will not bill you because the cost of collection would be greater than the fee collected. See 43 C.F.R. § 2.49\(a\)\(1\). In this case, no fee has been assessed.

In regard to Items 1 & 2 of your request, we obtained the documents you seek and conducted a review of the material you requested. After reviewing this information, we have determined that we may release 43 pages of responsive documents, with FOIA redactions pursuant to exemption 5 U.S.C. § 552 (b)(6) and (b)(7)(C).

In regard to Item 3 of your request, OIG conducted a search of its indices and found no documents responsive. There is no obligation for OIG to create or compile a record to satisfy a FOIA request. The FOIA only applies to records in the bureau's possession and control as the date the bureau begins its search for responsive documents.

FOIA requires that agencies generally disclose records. Agencies may only withhold requested records only if one or more of nine exemptions apply.

Exemption 6 permits the withholding of information contained in “personnel and medical files and similar files the disclosure of which would constitute a clearly unwarranted invasion of personal privacy.” 5 U.S.C. § 552(b)(6). The term “similar files” encompasses any government record that contains a particular individual; the term is not limited to records contained in personnel or medical files.

Exemption 6 requires weighing the privacy interests in nondisclosure against the public interest in the release of the records. For a privacy interest to exist, the information must be such that there is a substantial probability that a disclosure will cause an interference with personal privacy and that disclosure could subject the individuals to unwanted intrusions. The individuals named within the documents of your FOIA request could suffer the harms contemplated under FOIA Exemption 6 if released, consequently, we find a privacy interest exists in this case. However, even if a privacy interest exists in certain information, we must disclose the information if the privacy interest is outweighed by a significant public interest. The test for determining whether a public interest sufficient to justify release of the requested information exists is whether disclosure of the information would shed light on an agency’s performance of its statutory duties. You have not demonstrated how disclosure of the responsive material would reveal how OIG functions, as a result, we find that you have not provided sufficient information to demonstrate that the personal information at issue would inform the public in any meaningful way about the workings of the government. Therefore, you have not established that the public interest in this case outweighs any privacy interests and we must withhold this information under FOIA Exemption 6.

Exemption 7 allows agencies to refuse to disclose records compiled for law enforcement purposes under any one of six circumstances (identified as exemptions 7 (A) through 7 (F)). Law enforcement within the meaning of Exemption 7 includes enforcement pursuant to both civil and criminal statutes.

Specifically, Exemption 7(C) permits an agency to withhold information contained in files compiled for law enforcement purposes if production “could reasonably be expected to constitute an unwarranted invasion of personal privacy.” U.S.C. § 552 (b)(7)(C). Thus, the purpose of Exemption 7(C) is to protect the privacy interest of an individual if one exists. To determine this, we must evaluate not only the nature of the personal information found in the records, but also whether release of that information to the general public could affect that individual adversely. We find that release of personal information withheld here reasonably could be expected to have a negative impact on an individual’s privacy. Even if a privacy interest exists, we must nevertheless disclose the requested information if the public interest outweighs the privacy interest in the information requested. You have not established that release of the privacy information of witnesses, interviewee, middle and low-ranking federal employees and investigators, and other individuals name in the investigatory file, would shed light on government operations, and we have not found such a public interest in this case. For this reason, after reviewing the information in question, we have determined that disclosure would be an unwarranted invasion of personal privacy and we must withhold this information under FOIA Exemption 7(C).

We reasonably foresee that disclosure would harm an interest protected by one or more of the nine exemptions to the FOIA’s general rule of disclosure.

If you disagree with this response, you may appeal this response to the OIG FOIA/Privacy Act Appeals Officer. If you choose to appeal, the FOIA/Privacy Act Appeals Officer must receive your FOIA appeal no later than 90 workdays from the date of this letter. Appeals arriving or delivered after 5 p.m. Eastern Time, Monday through Friday, will be deemed received on the next workday.

Your appeal must be made in writing. You may submit your appeal and accompanying materials to the OIG FOIA/Privacy Act Appeals Officer by mail, courier service, fax, or email. All communications concerning your appeal should be clearly marked with the words: "FREEDOM OF INFORMATION APPEAL." You must include an explanation of why you believe the OIG's response is in error. You must also include with your appeal copies of all correspondence between you and the OIG concerning your FOIA request, including your original FOIA request and the OIG's response. Failure to include with your appeal all correspondence between you and the OIG will result in the OIG's rejection of your appeal, unless the FOIA/Privacy Act Appeals Officer determines (in the FOIA/Privacy Act Appeals Officer's sole discretion) that good cause exists to accept the defective appeal.

Please include your name and daytime telephone number (or the name and telephone number of an appropriate contact), email address and fax number (if available) in case the FOIA/Privacy Act Appeals Officer needs additional information or clarification of your appeal. The OIG FOIA/Privacy Act Appeals Office Contact Information is the following:

For your information, Congress excluded three discrete categories of law enforcement and national security records from the requirements of FOIA. See 5 U.S.C. 552\(c\). This response is limited to those records that are subject to the requirements of FOIA. This is a standard notification that is given to all our requesters and should not be taken as an indication that excluded records do, or do not, exist.

The 2007 FOIA amendments created the Office of Government Information Services (OGIS) to offer mediation services to resolve disputes between FOIA requesters and Federal agencies as a non-exclusive alternative to litigation. Using OGIS services does not affect your right to pursue litigation. You may contact OGIS in any of the following ways:
