IN REPLY REFER TO:

FOIA NM-2019-021
FOIA BLM-2019-00348
1278 (9500)

March 17, 2019

John Greenewald, Jr.
The Black Vault
27305 W. Oak Road, Suite 1203
Castaic, CA 91384-4520

Dear Mr. Greenewald:

This letter serves as the Bureau of Land Management (BLM), New Mexico State Office's response to your request for agency records made under the Freedom of Information Act, 5 U.S.C. § 552 (FOIA). Your records request was received in this office on February 4, 2019.

You requested,

- 1) All documents regarding the research into Mr. Frank Kimbler, his collection of material in or around Roswell, New Mexico, and the contact of Mr. Kimbler to attend the meeting
- 2) All documents regarding the meeting(s) itself, notes, reports, etc. generated after the meeting, and
- 3) All emails, letters, memos, etc. that pertain to the research into Mr. Kimbler and his research."

In accordance with FOIA requirements, the BLM has conducted a thorough search of the Roswell Field Office. Agency records responsive to your request were identified and the BLM is releasing 46 pages with no redactions. In addition, the BLM is partially withholding 3 pages containing either personal phone numbers under Exemption 6 of the FOIA (5 U.S.C. 552(b)(6)).

For those records withheld under Exemption 6 of the FOIA, Exemption 6 allows an agency to withhold "personnel and medical files and similar files the disclosure of which would constitute a clearly unwarranted invasion of personal privacy." The phrase "similar files" covers any agency records containing information about a particular individual that can be identified as applying to that individual. To determine whether releasing records containing information about a particular individual would constitute a clearly unwarranted invasion of personal privacy, we are required to balance the privacy interest that would be affected by disclosure against any public interest in the information.

Under the FOIA, the only relevant public interest to consider under the exemption is the extent to which the information sought would shed light on an agency's performance of its statutory duties or otherwise let citizens "know what their government is up to." The burden is on the requester to establish that disclosure would serve the public interest. When the privacy interest at stake and the public interest in disclosure have been determined, the two competing interests must be weighed against one another to determine which the greater result of disclosure is: the harm to personal privacy or the benefit to the public. The purposes for which the request for information is made do not impact this balancing test, as a release of information requested under the FOIA constitutes a release to the general public.

We reasonably foresee that disclosure of the records partially withheld would harm an interest protected by one or more of the nine exemptions to the FOIA's general rule of disclosure.

The persons responsible for this partial denial under Exemption 6 of the FOIA are Sarah A. Westenberg, NM/OK/TX/KS FOIA Officer, and Timothy R. Spisak, State Director, New Mexico State Office, Bureau of Land Management, Santa Fe, New Mexico, in consultation with Benjamin Vaccaro, Attorney Advisor, Department of the Interior, Office of the Solicitor, Southwest Region, Albuquerque, New Mexico.

Your request for fee waiver is granted.

You may appeal this response to the Department's FOIA/Privacy Act Appeals Officer. If you choose to appeal, the FOIA/Privacy Act Appeals Officer must receive your FOIA appeal no later than 90 workdays from the date of this letter. Appeals arriving or delivered after 5 p.m. Eastern Time, Monday through Friday, will be deemed received on the next workday.

Your appeal must be made in writing. You may submit your appeal and accompanying materials to the FOIA/Privacy Act Appeals Officer by mail, courier service, fax, or email. All communications concerning your appeal should be clearly marked with the words "FREEDOM OF INFORMATION APPEAL." You must include an explanation of why you believe the BLM's response is in error. You must include with your appeal copies of all correspondence between you and the BLM concerning your FOIA request, including your original FOIA request and BLM's response. Failure to include with your appeal all correspondence between you and the BLM will result in the Department's rejection of your appeal, unless the FOIA/Privacy Act Appeals Officer determines (in the FOIA/Privacy Act Appeals Officer's sole discretion) that good cause exists to accept the defective appeal.

Please include your name and daytime telephone number (or the name and telephone number of an appropriate contact), email address and fax number (if available) in case the FOIA/Privacy Act Appeals Officer needs additional information or clarification of your appeal.

For your information, Congress excluded three discrete categories of law enforcement and national security records from the requirements of the FOIA. See 5 U.S.C. § 552(c). This response is limited to those records that are subject to the requirements of the FOIA. This is a standard notification that is given to all our requesters and should not be taken as an indication that excluded records do, or do not, exist.

In 2007, a number of amendments to the FOIA were enacted. As part of these FOIA amendments, the Office of Government Information Services (OGIS) was created to offer mediation services to resolve disputes between FOIA requesters and Federal agencies as a non-exclusive alternative to litigation. Using OGIS services does not affect your right to pursue litigation. You may contact OGIS in any of the following ways:

Courtney,

It was pleasure speaking with you this morning. Attached is a pamphlet from the BLM. Although this is published by the Nevada BLM there are several other State BLM offices that have adopted it.

This is the information that I used in reference to metal detecting on public land.

Have a great day

Collecting on Public Lands

The public lands offer a broad range of outdoor activities that include collecting resources such as firewood, gemstones, pine nuts and fossils for personal enjoyment and use. This is a summary of what may be collected from public lands. The BLM encourages people to explore the nearly 48 million acres of public land in Nevada.

Please use care in collecting. Avoid activities which damage public resources such as vegetation, scenery and archaeological sites, or which create hazardous conditions such as pits or trenches. Power equipment and explosives may not be used except for woodcutting and certain dredging operations.

Reasonable amounts of the following may be collected for non-commercial purposes:

- Flowers, berries, nuts, seeds, cones, and other plant parts.
- Campfire wood.
- Rocks, mineral specimens, common invertebrate fossils and semiprecious gemstones.

Exceptions

Exceptions include specifically protected plants, campfire wood in posted areas, wilderness areas, wilderness study areas, areas of critical environmental concern including Stewart Valley, near Gabbs, Nev., Red Rock Canyon and Sloan Canyon National Conservation Areas, historic and prehistoric sites and districts, and national natural landmarks. Maps and information on specific restrictions are available at Bureau of Land Management (BLM) offices in Las Vegas, Tonopah, Carson City, Reno, Winnemucca, Battle Mountain, Elko, Ely and Caliente.

Minerals

Gold and silver may be prospected for with hand tools including pans and metal detectors. Minerals such as gold, silver and opals found on mining claims belong to the claim holder. Mining claim records may be viewed at BLM and county recorder offices. Sluicing, dredging and commercial mining require permits. Recreational panning which does not involve mechanical equipment is permitted in wilderness and wilderness study areas if it does not create surface disturbance or impair the environment.

Saleable minerals, such as sand, gravel, cinders, topsoil and other common mineral materials must be purchased by prior arrangement with the BLM.

Gemstones and common rock specimens may be collected for private use on unclaimed sites.

Commercial production of common rocks on an unclaimed site requires a permit. Only hobby collecting is allowed in wilderness and wilderness study areas and must not involve surface disturbance. Collection of prehistoric tools and chips made of precious or semiprecious stones is not allowed.

Fossils

Vertebrate fossils such as dinosaurs, mammals, fishes and reptiles, and uncommon invertebrate fossils may be collected only by trained researchers under BLM permit. Collected fossils remain the property of all Americans and are placed with museums or other public institutions after study.

Common invertebrate fossils such as plants, mollusks, and trilobites may be collected for personal use in reasonable quantities, but may not be bartered or sold.

Petrified wood may be collected up to 25 pounds plus one piece per person per day, with a maximum of 250 pounds per person per year. Permits are required for pieces over 250 pounds. Petrified wood may not be traded, bartered or sold without permit.

Cave resources, including plant, animal and geologic features, are federally protected and may not be altered, damaged or removed.

Cultural Artifacts

Cultural materials on public lands may not be removed, damaged, disturbed, excavated or transferred without BLM permit. Cultural resources include prehistoric and historic artifacts and sites, broken objects and debris more than 100 years old that were used or produced by humans. Protected materials include arrowheads and other stone tools, grinding stones, beads, baskets, pottery, old bottles, horse shoes, metal tools, graves and trash scatters.

Historic sites such as cabins, sawmills, graves, trail traces, mining areas, townsites, ranches and railroads are not open to collecting.

Metal detector use is allowed on public lands. Modern money may be collected, but coins and artifacts more than 100 years old may not be collected.

Wood, Plants and Pine Nuts

Various species of trees are available for firewood with a personal use permit, which allows the cutting of up to 10 cords per family per year in specified areas for a nominal fee. Permits for woodcutting are required even on an individual's mining or exploration claim.

Collection of dead and down wood for immediate campfire use is allowed except for posted sites.

Christmas tree permits are available for a nominal fee during the holiday season. Check with local BLM offices for permits and tree cutting area maps.

Small amounts of plants, plant parts, seeds, flowers and berries may be collected for personal use in most areas.

Cacti, yuccas, succulents and evergreen shrubs and trees are protected by the state. Species listed as threatened or endangered are protected by the federal government and may not be collected without permit. Collection of species listed as sensitive or candidates for threatened or endangered status should be avoided.

Pine nuts in amounts up to 25 pounds per person per year may be collected for non-commercial use. Although there are some designated commercial collecting areas, these are fully open to the public as well.

Harvesting plants or plant materials such as seeds, pine nuts, landscaping materials, firewood and timber for commercial purposes requires a permit.

Animals

Collection or harvest of game and nongame animals, including fish, is regulated by the State and the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service. Information for hunters, trappers, fishermen and collectors is available from the Nevada Division of Wildlife.

Threatened and endangered species, including desert tortoise and some other reptiles, whether federal or state listed, may be collected only under permit from the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service or state of Nevada. Lahontan cutthroat trout may be taken with a Nevada fishing license in permitted areas and seasons. Lists of protected species are available from the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service, the Nevada Division of Wildlife and BLM offices.

Wild, free-roaming horses and burros may not be harassed, harmed, collected or sold under any circumstances. Their water sources are also protected. Wild horses and burros gathered under BLM supervision and prepared for private ownership may be adopted from the BLM.

Violations of regulations under the Federal Land Policy and Management Act, the Native American Graves Protection and Repatriation Act, the Archaeological Resources Protection Act, state and federal wildlife law, and other laws may be punishable by fines, imprisonment, and forfeiture of equipment and vehicles used in commission of the crime.

STAY OUT AND STAY ALIVE!

Here is an example of the Roswell crash site artifacts the BLM is trying to confiscate this coming Monday morning at 10:15 AM at their district office in Roswell. It was legally collected according to a BLM pamphlet distributed on several BLM sites. Google this "Collecting on Public Lands - Bureau of Land Management ", and read it. The crash site is not a historically protected site and it says that in their Resource Planning document for the BLM Roswell District. Also notice what the document specifically says "of Human origin" Now I have some proof that indicates this material may be of ET origin. I'm one scientific test away from a potential historical event, proving Roswell was really ET and not a weather balloon.

Hello Chuck,

As I am likewise unfamiliar with the profession, I have attached the results of my google search. I do not believe there is any accredited degree or certificate.

Cheers,

Courtney

Here is an example of the Roswell crash site artifacts the BLM is trying to confiscate this coming Monday morning at 10:15 AM at their district office in Roswell. It was legally collected according to a BLM pamphlet distributed on several BLM sites. Google this "Collecting on Public Lands - Bureau of Land Management", and read it. The crash site is not a historically protected site and it says that in their Resource Planning document for the BLM Roswell District. Also notice what the document specifically says "of Human origin" Now I have some proof that indicates this material may be of ET origin. I'm one scientific test away from a potential historical event, proving Roswell was really ET and not a weather balloon.

Collecting on Public Lands

The public lands offer a broad range of outdoor activities that include collecting resources such as firewood, gemstones, pine nuts and fossils for personal enjoyment and use. This is a summary of what may be collected from public lands. The BLM encourages people to explore the nearly 48 million acres of public land in Nevada.

Please use care in collecting. Avoid activities which damage public resources such as vegetation, scenery and archaeological sites, or which create hazardous conditions such as pits or trenches. Power equipment and explosives may not be used except for woodcutting and certain dredging operations.

Reasonable amounts of the following may be collected for non-commercial purposes:

- Flowers, berries, nuts, seeds, cones, and other plant parts.
- Campfire wood.
- Rocks, mineral specimens, common invertebrate fossils and semiprecious gemstones.

Exceptions

Exceptions include specifically protected plants, campfire wood in posted areas, wilderness areas, wilderness study areas, areas of critical environmental concern including Stewart Valley, near Gabbs, Nev., Red Rock Canyon and Sloan Canyon National Conservation Areas, historic and prehistoric sites and districts, and national natural landmarks. Maps and information on specific restrictions are available at Bureau of Land Management (BLM) offices in Las Vegas, Tonopah, Carson City, Reno, Winnemucca, Battle Mountain, Elko, Ely and Caliente.

Minerals

Gold and silver may be prospected for with hand tools including pans and metal detectors. Minerals such as gold, silver and opals found on mining claims belong to the claim holder. Mining claim records may be viewed at BLM and county recorder offices. Sluicing, dredging and commercial mining require permits. Recreational panning which does not involve mechanical equipment is permitted in wilderness and wilderness study areas if it does not create surface disturbance or impair the environment.

Saleable minerals, such as sand, gravel, cinders, topsoil and other common mineral materials must be purchased by prior arrangement with the BLM.

Gemstones and common rock specimens may be collected for private use on unclaimed sites.

Commercial production of common rocks on an unclaimed site requires a permit. Only hobby collecting is allowed in wilderness and wilderness study areas and must not involve surface disturbance. Collection of prehistoric tools and chips made of precious or semiprecious stones is not allowed.

Fossils

Vertebrate fossils such as dinosaurs, mammals, fishes and reptiles, and uncommon invertebrate fossils may be collected only by trained researchers under BLM permit. Collected fossils remain the property of all Americans and are placed with museums or other public institutions after study.

Common invertebrate fossils such as plants, mollusks, and trilobites may be collected for personal use in reasonable quantities, but may not be bartered or sold.

Petrified wood may be collected up to 25 pounds plus one piece per person per day, with a maximum of 250 pounds per person per year. Permits are required for pieces over 250 pounds. Petrified wood may not be traded, bartered or sold without permit.

Cave resources, including plant, animal and geologic features, are federally protected and may not be altered, damaged or removed.

Cultural Artifacts

Cultural materials on public lands may not be removed, damaged, disturbed, excavated or transferred without BLM permit. Cultural resources include prehistoric and historic artifacts and sites, broken objects and debris more than 100 years old that were used or produced by humans. Protected materials include arrowheads and other stone tools, grinding stones, beads, baskets, pottery, old bottles, horse shoes, metal tools, graves and trash scatters.

Historic sites such as cabins, sawmills, graves, trail traces, mining areas, townsites, ranches and railroads are not open to collecting.

Metal detector use is allowed on public lands. Modern money may be collected, but coins and artifacts more than 100 years old may not be collected.

LOVE 'EM AND LEAVE 'EM
Artifacts belong on public lands.

Wood, Plants and Pine Nuts

Various species of trees are available for firewood with a personal use permit, which allows the cutting of up to 10 cords per family per year in specified areas for a nominal fee. Permits for woodcutting are required even on an individual's mining or exploration claim.

Collection of dead and down wood for immediate campfire use is allowed except for posted sites.

Christmas tree permits are available for a nominal fee during the holiday season. Check with local BLM offices for permits and tree cutting area maps.

Small amounts of plants, plant parts, seeds, flowers and berries may be collected for personal use in most areas.

Cacti, yuccas, succulents and evergreen shrubs and trees are protected by the state. Species listed as threatened or endangered are protected by the federal government and may not be collected without permit. Collection of species listed as sensitive or candidates for threatened or endangered status should be avoided.

Pine nuts in amounts up to 25 pounds per person per year may be collected for non-commercial use. Although there are some designated commercial collecting areas, these are fully open to the public as well.

Harvesting plants or plant materials such as seeds, pine nuts, landscaping materials, firewood and timber for commercial purposes requires a permit.

Animals

Collection or harvest of game and nongame animals, including fish, is regulated by the State and the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service. Information for hunters, trappers, fishermen and collectors is available from the Nevada Division of Wildlife.

Threatened and endangered species, including desert tortoise and some other reptiles, whether federal or state listed, may be collected only under permit from the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service or state of Nevada. Lahontan cutthroat trout may be taken with a Nevada fishing license in permitted areas and seasons. Lists of protected species are available from the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service, the Nevada Division of Wildlife and BLM offices.

Wild, free-roaming horses and burros may not be harassed, harmed, collected or sold under any circumstances. Their water sources are also protected. Wild horses and burros gathered under BLM supervision and prepared for private ownership may be adopted from the BLM.

Violations of regulations under the Federal Land Policy and Management Act, the Native American Graves Protection and Repatriation Act, the Archaeological Resources Protection Act, state and federal wildlife law, and other laws may be punishable by fines, imprisonment, and forfeiture of equipment and vehicles used in commission of the crime.

may try to confiscate fragments from the Rowell UFO crash site. I'm one test away from proving that Rowell is ET. The government does not want that to happen.

Here is an example of the Roswell crash site artifacts the BLM is trying to confiscate this coming Monday morning at 10:15 AM at their district office in Roswell. It was legally collected according to a BLM pamphlet distributed on several BLM sites. Google this "Collecting on Public Lands - Bureau of Land Management ", and read it. The crash site is not a historically protected site and it says that in their Resource Planning document for the BLM Roswell District. Also notice what the document specifically says "of Human origin" Now I have some proof that indicates this material may be of ET origin. I'm one scientific test away from a potential historical event, proving Roswell was really ET and not a weather balloon.

Notes from Roswell Field Management Staff Meeting with Frank Kimbler, June 25, 2018

In Attendance; Jim Stovall, - Pecos District Manager, Helen Miller, Acting AFM- Resources Roswell Field Office, Courtney Carlson – Roswell Field Office Archaeologist. These notes are being taken by Helen Miller.

Mr. Kimbler stated that he had been collecting some surface material on the X-Bar Ranch, potentially on public land surface, at what he thinks is the alleged UFO site. He works at NMMI as an instructor in Earth Science and has many stories of tours and training with the NMMI cadets.

Mr. Kimbler was concerned about the attendance at this meeting with the BLM Law Enforcement Ranger – Quinton Franzoy.

Mr. Kimbler suggests that BLM get rid of a document produced by BLM – Nevada as it is wrong. (“Collecting on Public Land”) Courtney says that NM Arch program says it is incorrect. Jim wants to talk with BLM – Nevada about the article. (Mr. Kimbler did not provide the document.)

Mr. Kimbler said that he is a law-abiding citizen and wants to protect the site. He is concerned about the location, and our map is too small. He will work hard to protect the site and will provide data, aerial photos, especially those taken between 1946 to the 1950's. He said he was given permission to be on private surface in the ranch by Eddy Davis, ranch foreman.

Mr. Kimbler asked what could be done to increase protection beyond “No surface occupancy”, as he thinks that this site is now considered an official historical site.

Mr. Kimbler would like to provide his information to us. Courtney would like to see it registered, which is published. That could be a “double edged sword”, providing information from the site as well as documenting the location of what could be an archaeological site. Mr. Kimbler agreed.

Mr. Kimbler tries to look at both extremes – the far-fetched and the programmatic. Some friends want him to take him to the site, but he has declined because that would make the site location known. He is willing to stop any work out there and try to become qualified as a crew chief. Courtney recommended that Mr. Kimbler contact Laura Hronec, BLM NM archaeologist at the State Office, to start the process. Courtney said he would have to have a certain type of college degree and get an “ARPA” permit, be a company or be employed by a qualifying company. Courtney gave Mr. Kimbler Laura Hronecs contact information, written on the back of my business card.

Mr. Kimbler says that the last dig was a couple of 100 yards off of the true location. He will provide the 1946 imagery to us and provide the Doleman report, 2006. (Courtney has it already). Doleman used a screen that was too large, most of the material went through the screens. The material was sent to the Maxwell Museum in Albuquerque, as most universities “won’t touch anything labeled UFO site.” His own metal detector can find a bb sized item 6 inches below the surface. Mr. Kimbler says any material should be within 1 to 2 inches of the surface. Testing of each item is quite costly, up to several thousand dollars per piece.

Courtney asked to see the items, not photographs. Mr. Kimbler is agreeable to that and said he would make an appointment to bring them in.

I asked Mr. Kimbler if he would like to meet our Ranger, Quinton Franzoy, to which he agreed. Mr. Franzoy came into the meeting and he and Mr. Kimbler exchanged phone numbers, just in case there was an emergency and Mr. Kimbler needed Mr. Franzoy's help.

The meeting adjourned and Mr. Kimbler left the building, accompanied by a few members of the public, who had been waiting in the reception area.

Hello Quinton and Chuck,

I spoke with Frank Kimbler, the individual who has collected items from the alleged UFO Skip Site, about bringing in his collection for us to assess. He will be here on Monday at 10:15 or 10:30.

Cheers,

Courtney Carlson
