Dear Mr. Greenewald:

Please refer to your April 7, 2015, request for copies of the title page of all the Government Accountability Office (GAO) classified reports from 1972 to 1990.

We apologize for the delay in responding to your request. Enclosed are copies of the requested title pages. As an agency responsible to the Congress, GAO is not subject to the Freedom of Information Act. However, GAO's disclosure policy follows the spirit of the act consistent with GAO's duties and functions as an agency with primary responsibility to the Congress. We are enclosing for your information a copy of our regulations concerning the availability of GAO records to the public, which are contained in 4 C.F.R. Part 81 (2018).

Sincerely yours,

SUBCHAPTER F--RECORDS

PART 81--PUBLIC AVAILABILITY OF THE GOVERNMENT ACCOUNTABILITY OFFICE RECORDS

Sec.

- 81.1 Purpose and scope of part.
- 81.2 Administration.
- 81.3 Definitions.
- 81.4 Requests for identifiable records.
- 81.5 Records originating outside GAO, records of interviews, or records involving work in progress.
- 81.6 Records which may be exempt from disclosure.
- 81.7 Fees and charges.
- 81.8 Public reading facility.

AUTHORITY: 31 U.S.C. 711.

Source: 68 FR 33832, June 6, 2003, unless otherwise noted.

§ 81.1 Purpose and scope of part.

(a) This part implements the policy of the U.S. Government Accountability Office (GAO) with respect to the public availability of GAO records, except as set forth in paragraph (b) of this section. While GAO is not subject to the Freedom of Information Act (5 U.S.C. 552), GAO's disclosure policy follows the spirit of the act consistent with its duties and functions and responsibilities to the Congress. Application of this act to GAO is not to be inferred from the provisions of these regulations.

(b) GAO published testimonies, reports, decisions, special publications or listings of publications are not included within the scope of this part. These documents may be obtained from the GAO Website, <http://www.gao.gov>, or by telephone at 202-512-6000, TDD 202-512-2537, or 1-866-801-7077 (toll free). These publications may be downloaded free of charge from the GAO Website. Paper copies requested from GAO are subject to a printing, shipping, and handling fee.

(c) Requests for all other GAO records are within the scope of this part and should be submitted to GAO as directed in paragraph (a) of § 81.4.

[68 FR 33832, June 6, 2003, as amended at 76 FR 12550, Mar. 8, 2011]

§ 81.2 Administration.

(a) GAO's Chief Quality Officer administers this part and may promulgate such supplemental rules or regulations as may be necessary.

(b) Requests for records of GAO's Office of Inspector General (OIG) shall be processed by the Counsel to the Inspector General in accordance with this part. The Inspector General shall decide any administrative appeals of decisions of the Counsel to the Inspector General concerning such requests. However, if any of the requested records of the OIG originated in GAO, the Counsel to the Inspector General shall refer the requester to GAO's Chief Quality Officer for processing of the request for those records in accordance with this part. With regard to any public request to inspect or copy records of the OIG, other than records that originated in GAO, in this part the term "Counsel to this Inspector General" is to be substituted for "Chief Quality Officer" and the term "Inspector General" is to be substituted for "Comptroller General". All requests to inspect or obtain a copy of an identifiable record of the OIG must be submitted in writing to the Counsel to the Inspector General, U.S. Government Accountability Office, Suite 1808, 441 G Street, NW, Washington, DC 20548 or emailed to OIGRecordsRequest@gao.gov.

[76 FR 12550, Mar. 8, 2011, as amended at 82 FR 51753, Nov. 8, 2017]

§ 81.3 Definitions.

As used in this part:

(a) "Identifiable" means a reasonably specific description of a particular record sought, such as the date of the record, subject matter, agency or person involved, etc., which will permit location or retrieval of the record.

(b) "Records" includes all books, papers, manuals, maps, photographs, reports, and other documentary materials, regardless of physical form or characteristics, including electronically created or maintained materials, under the control of GAO in pursuance of law or in connection with the transaction of public business. As used in this part, the term "records" is limited to an existing record under GAO's control and does not include compiling or procuring records, library or museum material made, acquired, or preserved solely for reference or exhibition purposes, or extra copies of documents preserved only for convenience of reference.

(c) "Records available to the public" means records which may be examined or copied or of which copies may be obtained, in accordance with this part, by the public or representatives of the press regardless of interest and without specific justification.

(d) "Disclose or disclosure" means making available for examination or copying or furnishing a copy.

(e) "Person" includes an individual, partnership, corporation, association, or public or private organization other than a federal agency.

(f) "Compelling need" means that a failure to obtain requested records on an expedited basis could reasonably be expected to pose an imminent threat to the life or physical safety of an individual, or the records are needed urgently, with respect to a request made by a person primarily engaged in disseminating information, for the requester to inform the public concerning actual or alleged Federal Government activity.

§ 81.4 Requests for identifiable records.

(a) A request to inspect or obtain a copy of an identifiable record of GAO must be submitted in writing to the Chief Quality Officer, U.S. Government Accountability Office, 441 G Street, NW, Washington, DC 20548. Requests also may be emailed to recordsrequest@gao.gov. The Chief Quality Officer will either acknowledge or honor the request within 20 days of receipt.

(b) The Chief Quality Officer will honor requests for expedited processing before all other requests in cases in which the person requesting the records demonstrates a compelling need. A demonstration of compelling need shall be made by a statement certified by the requester to be true and correct to the best of the requester's knowledge and belief.

(c) In the event of an objection or doubt as to the propriety of providing the requester with a copy of the record sought, every effort will be made to resolve such problems as quickly as possible, including consultation with appropriate GAO elements. If it is determined that the record should be withheld, the Chief Quality Officer shall inform the requester in writing that the request has been denied, shall identify the material withheld, and shall explain the basis for the denial.

(d) A person whose request is denied in whole or part may administratively appeal the denial within 60 days after the date of the denial by submitting a letter to the Comptroller General of the United States at the address listed in paragraph (a) of this section, explaining why the denial of the request was unwarranted.

[68 FR 33832, June 6, 2003, as amended at 76 FR 12550, Mar. 8, 2011]

§ 81.5 Records originating outside GAO, records of interviews, or records involving work in progress.

(a) It is the policy of GAO not to provide records from its files that originate in another agency or nonfederal organization to persons who may not be entitled to obtain the records from the originator. In such instances, requesters will be referred to the person or organization that originated the records.

(b) It is the policy of GAO that prior to the release of a record of interview created by GAO in connection with an audit, evaluation, or investigation of a program, activity, or funding of a government entity, GAO will notify the agency from which an interview was obtained of the request. GAO will provide that agency with a reasonable opportunity to indicate whether the record of interview or portions thereof should be exempt from disclosure and the reason(s) for the exemption. The public disclosure of a record of interview remains within the discretion of GAO's Chief Quality Officer, but GAO will consider the views of the agency and the exemptions provided for under § 81.6 or any other law or regulation in deciding whether to release all or portions of a record of interview

(c) In order to avoid disruption of work in progress, and in the interests of fairness to those who might be adversely affected by the release of information which has not been fully reviewed to assure its accuracy and completeness, it is the policy of GAO not to provide records which are part of ongoing reviews or other current projects. In response to such requests, GAO will inform the requester of the estimated completion date of the review or project so that the requester may then ask for the records. At that time, the records may be released unless exempt from disclosure under § 81.6.

[68 FR 33832, June 6, 2003, as amended at 72 FR 50643, Sept. 4, 2007]

§ 81.6 Records which may be exempt from disclosure.

The public disclosure of GAO records contemplated by this part does not apply to records, or parts thereof, within any of the categories listed below. Unless precluded by law, the Chief Quality Officer may nevertheless release records within these categories.

(a) Records relating to work performed in response to a congressional request (unless authorized by the congressional requester), congressional correspondence, and congressional contact memoranda.

(b) Records specifically required by an Executive Order to be kept secret in the interest of national defense or foreign policy. An example of this category is a record classified under Executive Order 12958, Classified National Security Information.

(c) Records related solely to the internal personnel rules and practices of an agency. This category includes, in addition to internal matters of personnel administration, internal rules and practices which cannot be disclosed without prejudice to the effective performance of an agency function. Examples within the purview of this exemption are guidelines and procedures for auditors, investigators, or examiners, and records concerning an agency's security practices or procedures.

(d) Records specifically exempted from disclosure by statute provided that such statute: (1) requires that the matters be withheld from the public in such a manner as to leave no discretion on the issue or (2) establishes particular criteria for withholding or refers to particular types of matters to be withheld.

(e) Records containing trade secrets and commercial or financial information obtained from a person that are privileged or confidential. This exemption may include, but is not limited to, business sales statistics, inventories, customer lists, scientific or manufacturing processes, or development information.

(f) Personnel and medical files and similar files the disclosure of which could constitute a clearly unwarranted invasion of personal privacy. This exemption excludes from disclosure all personnel and medical files, and all private or personal information contained in other files, which, if disclosed to the public, would amount to a clearly unwarranted invasion of the privacy of any person. An example of such other files within the exemption would be files compiled to evaluate candidates for security clearance.

(g) Records compiled for law enforcement purposes that originate in another agency, or records prepared for referral to and/or provided by GAO or the OIG to another agency for law enforcement purposes.

(h) Records having information contained in or related to examination, operation, or condition reports prepared by, on behalf of, or for the use of an agency responsible for the regulation or supervision of financial institutions.

(i) Records containing geological and geophysical information and data (including maps) concerning wells.

(j) Inter-agency or intra-agency memoranda, letters, or other materials that are part of the deliberative process. For example, this exemption includes internal communications such as GAO or other agency draft reports and those portions of internal drafts, memoranda, and workpapers containing opinions, recommendations, advice, or evaluative remarks of GAO employees. This exemption seeks to avoid the inhibiting of internal communications and the premature disclosure of documents which would be detrimental to an agency decision making.

(k) Records in addition to those described in paragraph (j) of this section containing information customarily subject to protection as privileged in a court or other proceedings, such as information protected by the doctor-patient, attorney-work product, or lawyer-client privilege.

(l) Records GAO has obligated itself not to disclose, including but not limited to, records for which GAO officials have made a pledge of confidentiality, and records the release of which would adversely impact significant property interests or negatively affect public safety.

(m) Unsolicited records containing information submitted by any person to GAO in confidence. Records obtained by the GAO Forensic Audits and Special Investigations (GAO FraudNet) are an example of records that could contain information covered by this exemption.

[68 FR 33832, June 6, 2003, as amended at 72 FR 50644, Sept. 4, 2007; 76 FR 12550, Mar. 8, 2011; 82 FR 51753, Nov. 8, 2017]

§ 81.7 Fees and charges.

(a) No fee or charge will be made for:

(1) Records provided under this part when the direct costs involve less than one hour of search time and 50 pages of photocopying.

(2) Staff-hours spent in resolving any legal or policy questions pertaining to the request.

(3) Copies of records, including those certified as true copies, furnished for official use to a federal government officer or employee.

(4) Copies of pertinent records furnished to a party having a direct and immediate interest in a matter pending before GAO, when necessary or desirable to the performance of a GAO function.

(b) The fees and charges described below will be assessed for the direct costs of search, review, and reproduction of records available to the public under this part.

(1) The cost for reproduction per page shall be 20 cents.

(2) The cost for a certification of authenticity shall be $10 for each certificate.

(3) Manual search and review for records by office personnel will be assessed at $12, $25, or $45 per hour, depending on the rate of pay of the individual actually conducting the search or review, and the complexity of the search.

(4) Other direct costs related to the request may be charged for such items as computer searches.

(5) Except as noted immediately below, requesters generally will be charged only for document duplication. However, there may be times when a search charge will be added, for example, if records are not described with enough specificity to enable them to be located within one hour.

Requesters seeking records for commercial use will be charged for document duplication, search, and review costs. Additionally, representatives of the news media, in support of a news gathering or dissemination function, and education or noncommercial scientific institutions not seeking records for commercial use will be charged only for document duplication, unless such request requires extraordinary search or review.

(c) GAO shall notify the requester if an advance deposit is required.

(d) Fees and charges shall be paid by check or money order payable to the U.S. Government Accountability Office.

(e) The Chief Quality Officer may waive or reduce the fees under this section upon a determination that disclosure of the records requested is in the public interest, is likely to contribute significantly to public understanding of the operations or activities of the government, and is not primarily in the commercial interest of the requester. Persons seeking such waiver or fee reduction may be required to submit a statement setting forth the intended purpose for which the records are requested, indicate how disclosure will primarily benefit the public and, in appropriate cases, explain why the volume of records requested is necessary. Determinations pursuant to this paragraph are solely within the discretion of GAO.

§ 81.8 Public reading facility.

GAO maintains a public reading facility in the Law Library at the Government Accountability Office Building, 441 G Street NW, Washington, DC. To determine if a record is part of the public reading facility collection and to schedule an appointment to visit the facility, contact the Library reference desk at 202-512-2585. The facility is open to the public from 8:30 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. except Saturdays, Sundays, and Federal holidays.

Another Look At The Readiness Of Strategic Army Forces

Department of the Army

Strategic Army forces are active units which are to be constantly available on short notice for deployment in an emergency.

GAO reported in 1972 that it would be difficult for these forces to deploy quickly and at full strength because many units were not combat ready. This report, a followup to the 1972 report, concludes that it is still doubtful that these forces could deploy quickly in a fully combat ready status.

Can The Army Provide Logistic
Support For Its Troops In A Conventional Defense Of Free Europe?

Despite their vital importance, key plans for logistic support of U.S. troops in a NATO contingency are not well coordinated, and some are not current. As a result, assurance is lacking that adequate quantities of war reserve stocks and resupply material from the United States can be delivered on time. The planned Army wartime support organization does not provide adequately for a logical and smooth flow of supplies to combat troops, and the Army is relying on some civilian support that host nations may be unable to provide.

The Department of Defense should update and coordinate all plans for logistic support of European troops and encourage NATO Allies to develop multinational supply lines and to better prepare their own war material postures for defending key resupply routes.

Can They Effectively
Augment The Active Forces?

Department of Defense

To effectively integrate Active and Reserve Forces in an emergency, the Forces must be able to mobilize and deploy when needed. Some Reserve components may find it difficult to deploy fully combat-ready forces in time. Even if they could deploy in time, many units would not be able to fully meet their assigned missions.

The report presents several recommendations and alternatives for improving the readiness of the Reserves.

Critical Considerations
In The Acquisition Of
A New Main Battle Tank

Department of Defense

Improvements in anti-tank weapons have made tanks more vulnerable than in the past. The numbers, capabilities, and costs of tanks to be procured in the future, and their proper mix with other weapons in the combined arms team are questions still needing resolution.

The July 1976 decision on the XM-1's continued development may have to be based on incomplete and inconclusive information about broader issues: (1) the relative effectiveness of various force mix alternatives, (2) the most effective main gun, (3) the performance and cost of the German Leopard 2 AV.

Review Of The
F-14A/Phoenix Weapon System

Department of Defense

"NATIONAL SECURITY INFORMATION"
UNAUTHORIZED DISCLOSURE SUBJECT
TO CRIMINAL SANCTIONS

GAO found that supply support problems have been significant in limiting F-14A operations and that there is a question as to the need for the improvements offered by a new engine, the F401(571).

GAO recommends that the Secretary of Defense determine the reasons for the supply shortage and, in conjunction with the Navy, take the steps necessary to improve the situation. The Secretary should also thoroughly examine the plans for the use of the F401(571), including as a minimum (1) the high cost of developing, producing, and retrofitting the engine into F-14 aircraft and (2) the benefits to be derived.

U.S. Army's Management Of Medical Supplies In Europe Needs Improvement

Department of Defense

The Army continues to use the costly in-theater depot system to furnish medical supplies to its hospitals, although other commodities are being supplied successfully through the direct support system.

The additional cost of the depot operation is not offset by improved supply effectiveness or reduced risks.

The Army cannot adequately determine whether its war reserves of medical supplies are sufficient to meet its computed requirements; there are some known shortages, and some war reserves are not ready for issue.

This report covers the requirements, potential improvements, testing, and the award of a production contract to the Raytheon Corporation for the AIM-7F Sparrow missile.

The missile meets most but not all performance thresholds. The monopulse seeker currently under development is expected to improve performance.

Because of this GAO believes that it may be desirable to limit procurement of the current configuration of the missile to the minimum necessary to support production aircraft.

Current U.S. defense policies require a chemical munitions stockpile to deter and retaliate for enemy chemical attacks. The Department of Defense considers the existing stockpile inadequate and wants to upgrade it with new munitions.

The report provides information on the following issues facing the Congress:

- What is the chemical warfare threat to U.S. forces?
- Why does the United States retain chemical munitions?
- What chemical munitions are needed?
- What new chemical munitions are being developed?
- What constraints would affect the timeliness of a U.S. chemical retaliation?

The Nuclear Weapons Joint Flight Test Program Needs Stronger Management Controls

The Joint Flight Test Program is the Department of Energy's only means through which nuclear warhead components can be tested under operational conditions. These weapons include all components except those which lead to radiation releases or detonations.

The tests play a key role in determining the combat readiness of deployed nuclear weapons and have been instrumental in identifying and correcting serious problems found under flight conditions.

However, management weaknesses need to be corrected to further increase the program's effectiveness.

Potential Improvements In Design Of Automatic Secure Voice
Communications II And Tri-Service
Tactical Communications Programs

Further improvements could be made in the design of the Department of Defense's non-tactical Automatic Secure Voice Communications III system by eliminating unnecessary features and requirements. Also, tests and evaluations, including consideration of alternative designs, should be completed before authorizing production of Tri-Service Tactical Communications circuit switches and tactical secure voice terminals.

Aerial Fire Support Weapons: How Useful Would They Be In A European Conflict?

The United States expects to spend more than $3 billion during the next several years for aerial fire support weapons used to assist ground forces. The effectiveness of the weapons, however, will be limited by operational constraints required to increase aircraft survivability.

The usefulness of the weapons should be re-assessed, and future program actions by the Congress and the Secretary of Defense should be based on the results.

The Government's Role In East-West Trade-
Problems And Issues

Multiagency

Renewed commercial relations between the United States and Communist countries have raised public and congressional interest in the benefits of such trade, the policies being followed, and the executive branch's role in bilateral and multilateral East-West trade issues.

GAO's report reviews East-West trade policies, programs, and procedures to provide information on, and an assessment of, the executive branch's role.

Field Army Air Defense

Department of Defense
Department of the Army

GAO has prepared this summary of the field Army air defense mission area to provide (1) information useful to the Congress in its authorization of major weapon systems for tactical air defense and (2) an overview of budgetary implications.

The assessment of potential enemy capabilities and the weapons needed by U.S. forces to counter those capabilities are matters to which expert military judgment must be applied. GAO does not make those types of judgments.

Data relating to the potential enemy threat and the costs, capabilities, and methods of employment of weapon systems were extracted from Department of Defense documents.

Opium Eradication Efforts
In Mexico:
Cautious Optimism Advised

Departments of State and Justice

On the basis of analyses of selected seizures in 1975, the Drug Enforcement Administration indicated that 89 percent of heroin in the United States was of Mexican origin.

The United States works with the Mexican Government to eliminate the supply at the source. Since previous eradication efforts in Mexico have been unsuccessful in reducing the U.S. supply, the Mexican Government decided in 1975 to use aerielly sprayed herbicides to kill opium poppies. This, together with an expanded coverage area and a longer eradication campaign, could considerably increase the number of plants destroyed, which would reduce the amount of Mexican heroin available for smuggling into the United States.

Foreign Military Sales--
A Potential Drain On
The U.S. Defense Posture

Departments of Defense and State

Military sales by the United States to foreign buyers have grown to dominate the international arms market. This rapid growth has, on one hand, been at the expense of the U.S. Forces; on the other, it has helped maintain employment and has reduced the costs of some weapon systems.

Of equal importance, these sales have created large inventories of U.S. articles in foreign hands. However, there is no experience to suggest that the future support of both foreign and U.S. inventories can be accomplished with the even handedness necessary to avert a potential drain on the U.S. defense posture.

The Navy's Submarine Launched Ballistic Missile Force Is Highly Ready

The Navy maintains the submarine launched ballistic missile force in a high state of readiness because of its strategically important deterrent mission. The Navy achieves this favorable readiness posture through special emphasis on management, staffing, equipment, maintenance, and supply support. Costs to design, procure, operate, and maintain this system average over $4 billion annually.

This report presents information on the system's readiness condition, the reasons for its high readiness, the costs of achieving and maintaining this readiness, and the Navy's efforts in relating costs to various readiness options. The report also provides GAO's observations for improved program management and issues which the Congress may want to pursue with the Navy.

Observations On The Fleet Support Provided By The Navy's Shore Installations In The Western Pacific And Indian Ocean

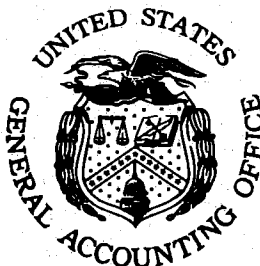

This report addresses the key questions that GAO believes should be answered as part of the Navy's requirements determination for shore-based ship maintenance support in the Western Pacific and Indian Ocean. For example,

- Has the Navy adequately determined wartime and peacetime ship maintenance requirements for the Western Pacific?
- Do U.S. Navy forces in the Pacific exceed contingency requirements?

Improving Warship Survivability-- A Billion Dollar Problem

Most U.S. Navy warships are not adequately protected against cheap kills such as very long-range nuclear effects, fragments from destroyed aircraft and missiles, and shock. In these situations, a damaged system prevents the ship from completing its mission, even though there is little or no damage to the ship's structure. The ship floats, but serves no useful purpose.

The Navy's efforts to organize and coordinate survivability improvements are just now starting after substantial delays. Long-range programs to develop survivability technology and to improve some existing ships are estimated at about $250 million. Improvements to all existing ships would cost billions of dollars. This report identifies several actions which are needed to help improve the survivability of future ships.

TRESTLE Electromagnetic Pulse Simulator Program Should Be Reevaluated

TRESTLE is a special Department of the Air Force facility now under construction to simulate threat-level, electromagnetic pulse stresses on large aircraft generated by a high-altitude detonation of a nuclear weapon. Should the Secretary of Defense discontinue funding and reevaluate the TRESTLE program? GAO thinks so because of

- untimely availability of the facility to test major aircraft programs,
- inadequate simulation capability,
- unreliability of analysis techniques to use test data, and
- availability of existing simulators to advance the science of electromagnetic pulse effects on aircraft.

Progress Made And Improvements Needed In Developing A Containerized Ammunition Distribution System

In the event of mobilization, the Department of Defense will rely heavily on modern fast containerships to deliver ammunition to its forces overseas. The Department is developing an ammunition distribution system which will permit maximum and efficient use of such ships.

Although much progress has been made in this system, problems still exist. This report questions whether large planned expenditures should be made before the problems are resolved.

Information On Proposals Being Considered By The Air Force To Modernize The Strategic Bomber Force

The Air Force plans to spend billions of dollars modifying B-52 aircraft. It is also considering modification of certain F-111 aircraft, and acquisition of a new cruise missile carrier aircraft and a new manned penetrating bomber.

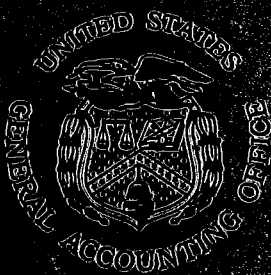

The costs for some B-52 modifications might be avoided, and the cruise missile carrier program should be carefully evaluated.

Of Emergency Support
Of U.S. Allies

Department of Defense

The readiness position of the United States has been adversely affected by the accelerated emergency support to South Vietnam and Israel over the past several years because:

- Equipment was taken from active forces;
- Equipment stocks in U.S. depots and prepositioned in Europe were reduced below desired levels;
- Equipment in the possession of or earmarked for delivery to Reserve components was diverted or withdrawn and transferred to these countries.

Secure Voice Telephone Systems --
How Department Of Defense
Can Save Millions

Two different nontactical secure voice systems are being developed to protect civil and defense telephone conversations in the event they are monitored or intercepted. The combined projected cost of the two systems is about $1.5 billion or more.

"NATIONAL SECURITY INFORMATION"
UNAUTHORIZED DISCLOSURE SUBJECT
TO CRIMINAL SANCTIONS

If implemented as planned, the defense system could

- increase total communications cost to the Government by about $300 million over 20 years;
- hinder the goal of achieving the best way of communicating within and between defense and nondefense users; and
- result in less reliable and survivable secure voice communications.
