President Charms Trudeau, Medici

By JEREMIAH O'LEARY
Star Staff Writer

After the United States, Canada and Brazil are the two largest and most prosperous nations of the Western Hemisphere, and each has political, economic and emotional problems from living in the shadow of the giant.

But in the past 48 hours, President Nixon has charmed

Interpretation

the chiefs of state of both countries like a master pupil of Dale Carnegie.

Prime Minister Pierre Trudeau of Canada and President Emilio Medici of Brazil were highly pleased over the manner in which Nixon received them, and over the things he had to say.

Both leaders held press conferences yesterday to report on their meetings with Nixon at the White House, and both made it plain that the President had scored heavily as a good friend who has their friendship and trust in return.

Neither Easily Wooded

Trudeau and Medici are not the type to be easily wooed with White House banquets or the other trappings of summitry. A year ago, Trudeau did not hesitate to suspend Canada's constitution and put his people under martial law when Quebec nationalists appeared to threaten the nation. And Medici is a career soldier who became president by the will of the Brazilian armed forces.

Both leaders came to Washington Monday with grievances, but they went away in a happier mood.

Trudeau told reporters yesterday just before his departure that he was convinced by Nixon that the 10 percent import surcharge will be removed as soon as possible and that the United States is not trying to make Canada an American colony.

Trudeau obtained nothing here except reassurance — but that was what he mainly had come here for, he said. Whatever Nixon told him about the array of problems, mainly economic, between the United States and Canada, Trudeau obviously went back to Ottawa sold on the idea that Nixon is a friend in whom he reposes confidence.

Medici, in his first exposure to the U.S. press since he took office in October 1969, said last night he was equally impressed by his first meeting with Nixon. Medici told reporters: "Relations have always been close between the United States and Brazil and now that we are growing, we will be closer and closer."

Medici said Nixon's remarks to him showed that the American President knows that the Brazilian government represents the will of the people. He said the talks marked the first step toward more discussions for mutual progress.

Brazil and Canada are alike in their sensitivity to U.S. power, and it was this syndrome that apparently guided Nixon in his conversations with the two.

In the main, it was more exploit of style than substance. Nixon said the right things, very likely assuring the two leaders that the surcharge will be removed soon rather than late, and giving other assurances that were not discussed publicly by any of the participants.

Topics Outlined

He discussed with them his pending trips to Peking and Moscow, he chatted with them about the Middle East, and he talked in general terms about such vital issues as the Indo-Pakistan war and the world monetary crisis.

More importantly, he met with the Brazilian and Canadian leaders before his pre-travel talks with the leaders of Britain, France, Japan and West Germany. It is apparent that this personal diplomacy and show of deference to the hemispheric neighbors pleased both.

Enclosed for Legat, Ottawa, are two copies of an article entitled "Chinese in Canada Warn Trudeau Against Peiping Tie" which appeared in the 8/18/68 issue of "Free China Weekly," which is published by the China Publishing Company, P.O. Box 337, Taipei, Republic of China. The article concerns a resolution adopted by a three day national convention at Toronto of 22 delegates representing 18 Chinese communities and presented in letter form to Canadian Prime Minister Pierre Elliot Trudeau on 8/13/68.

The letter sets forth an appeal to Prime Minister Trudeau not to follow up on his announced intention to extend diplomatic recognition to Communist China. It describes the danger of subversion of the Chinese communities as being inherent in such recognition and states that a Chicom Embassy in Ottawa would become the field headquarters and commanding posts to direct the guerrilla warfare in North America."

The Bureau feels that the presence of a Chicom diplomatic establishment in Canada would increase the Chicom ability to mount intelligence operations against the United States and to that degree represents a threat to the national security of this country.

Chinese in Canada Warn Trudeau Against Peiping Tie

Canadians of Chinese ancestry have appealed to Prime Minister Pierre Elliot Trudeau not to seek diplomatic ties with the Communist regime in Peiping.

The appeal was contained in a letter addressed to the Canadian Prime Minister and delivered through External Affairs Minister Mitchell Sharp at Ottawa on Aug. 13.

It was adopted as a resolution during the three-day national convention at Toronto of 22 delegates representing 12 Chinese community centers in Canada.

Trudeau's announced intention to recognize the Chinese Communist regime is "detrimental to the cause of peace" and amounts to "abandonment of the government of the Republic of China", the letter says.

It warns that Canadian recognition of the Mao Tse-tung regime would lead to a "flood" of Communist agents in Canada.

Red Infiltration

The lengthy letter was read to Sharp by Y.C. Ma of Winnipeg when a 21-member delegation from the convention called on the external affairs minister to make the delivery. Sharp was acting Prime Minister at the time.

"Even now, Chinese Communist agents are known to have infiltrated in North American communities to pave the ground for this stage of the Communist strategy," Ma said.

He added that the Chinese communities in Canada, "which have always been law-abiding and loyal to Canada, would be the first to be infiltrated, divided, and subverted."

In the letter, the delegates said Canada is either their country of birth or their adopted country, and it is in the interest of Canada and of the Chinese communities there that its government should refrain from recognizing Peiping.

"A Chinese Communist embassy in Ottawa would become the field headquarters and commanding post to direct the guerrilla warfare in North America," the letter continues.

Mainland Situation

Canadian recognition of Communist China, it adds, would "obviously be detrimental to the cause of peace in general and to the peace and security of countries in Asia and the Pacific in particular."

The letter says the Chinese community in Canada knows "for certain" that the majority of the Chinese people are opposed to the Communist regime on the mainland.

"From our information, we know that the stage is being reached when the Chinese people will no longer tolerate the ever-worsening situation, but will rise up to overthrow the Communist regime.

"For Canada to grant diplomatic recognition to the Communist regime in these circumstances would be acting against the Chinese people and giving support to the regime which they oppose."

The letter goes on to reaffirm the Chinese-Canadians' support for the Republic of China's government in Taipei.

The government of President Chiang Kai-shek in Taiwan, it says, is the best government China has had in the last hundred years. It has become the center of attraction and hope for a brighter future for the Chinese people on the mainland as well as elsewhere in the world.

Canadian diplomatic recognition of the Chinese Communists would therefore mean abandonment of the Chinese government supported by the Chinese people, the letter says.

In addition to the letter of appeal, the Toronto convention also gave birth to a Federation of Chinese Community Centers in Canada.

Lam Fong of Vancouver was elected first president of the federation. Vancouver, with the largest Chinese community in Canada, was chosen as the site for the federation's headquarters.

Delegates to the convention came from Vancouver, Regina, Winnipeg, Sudbury, Toronto, Hamilton, Montreal, Quebec, Ottawa, Peterborough, Calgary and Timmins.

ReCGairtel 8/15/68 requesting Bureau advice on possibility of establishment of diplomatic relations between Canada and Communist China in the near future and suggesting inquiry be made of the State Department.

The newly elected Trudeau Liberal Government of Canada has indicated in pre-election statements as in statements since the June election an interest in expanding both diplomatic and trade relations with Communist China. Political candidates representing both major Parties in the United States have made similar statements indicating a desire for greater rapport with the Chinese communists and many political leaders in both countries advocate easing of tensions with Communist China looking towards its admission to the United Nations.

When Communist China will be afforded diplomatic recognition by either Canada or the United States, or when the Chinese communists will be admitted to the United Nations, is highly speculative and dependent upon many factors. These include international events and political alignments; pressures upon and attitudes of key political leaders, some yet to be elected as in the instance of the United States; and to a large degree upon the attitude of the Chinese communists themselves who in many instances have failed to respond to diplomatic overtures.

Because of the highly general nature of your inquiry and the many unknown factors involved, the Bureau is not seeking comment on this subject from the Department of State.

TRUDEAU EYES RECOGNITION OF RED CHINA

BY EUGENE GRIFFIN
[Chief of Canada Bureau]
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

OTTAWA, Ont., Aug 14
Prime Minister Pierre Trudeau said today that Canadian diplomats have been asked what the reaction of other countries would be if Canada recognized Red China.

"We have begun some fairly intensive work on this problem," he told reporters. "We have polled our posts around various parts of the world and have asked them to advise us on reactions in various countries and the way these reactions might best be met or satisfied."

No Trudeau Promise

Trudeau said that he would not promise to say publicly when Canada makes its first contacts with Peking. He said the contacts may be made "on a nonofficial basis at first in perhaps a roundabout way through third parties."

Trudeau was elected in June with a Liberal majority in parliament, which will meet on Sept. 12. During the campaign he said that his government would want to recognize Red China if Canadians would be accepted in Peking with full diplomatic privileges.

American opposition has been given as one reason for Canada's failure to recognize Red China until now, but Trudeau said in the campaign. "You are entitled to say to a friend, 'Well, to hell with you.

Be annoyed. I am going to do what I think is right, and if you think it is wrong, all right."

Made Peking Visits

Before he entered politics as a Liberal three years ago, when he was known as a wealthy leftist bachelor lawyer in Montreal, Trudeau had made two trips to Red China, and later wrote that in 1960 he had met Mao Tse-tung, whom Trudeau described as a "superb strategist." Trudeau wrote that Canadian socialists could use the federal system in this country as a valuable tool to copy Mao's strategy of establishing socialist strongholds in various regions of a vast country.

An anti-communist Chinese-Canadian delegation, representing Chinese communities across Canada, protested here this week that Canadian recognition of Red China would open the door to a flood of Chinese communist agents.

At a meeting with Trudeau's foreign minister, Mitchell Sharp, the 24-member delegation presented a statement which argued that "a Chinese communist embassy in Ottawa would become the field headquarters and command post to direct guerrilla warfare in North America."

LET FREEDOM RING

A recording of the message entitled "Let Freedom Ring" was obtained on March 29, 1971, by dialing St. Petersburg, Florida, telephone number 896-1373.

"Let freedom ring! Most Americans would be shocked to be told that Pierre Trudeau, the Prime Minister of Canada, is a communist, who adores Mao Tse-tung and wants to make Canada over into a Red Chinese-style communist slave state. But there can be no doubt that Pierre Trudeau is a communist. The American press, like the Canadian press, is strangely silent about Trudeau's subversive background. Like many communist leaders, Trudeau was born a millionaire. He went to the London School of Economics, which trains young men to become good Marxists. Mr. Trudeau was in the Canadian Officers' Training Corps during World War II, but was apparently kicked out for disciplinary reasons, then joined the communist-backed Bloc-Populaire, the main function of which was to undermine the Canadian war effort. It is probably no accident that 'Bucky' Pierre was in Shanghai when Mao Tse-tung took over and started a reign of terror never before equaled in history. The man who is now the Prime Minister of Canada was there when Mao Tse-tung opened the slaughter house that eventually murdered thirty million Chinese. Apparently Comrade Trudeau approved, as he wrote, 'Mao Tse-tung is one of the greatest men of the century.' It is hard to believe that we are talking about the Prime Minister of Canada.

LET FREEDOM RING

He wrote those glowing words about his idol, Mao Tse-tung, only three years ago. Although few Canadians or Americans know about Trudeau's communist background, he has done little to hide it, but he has been carefully shielded from exposure by both the Canadian and American news media. If something isn't done soon, we will have another Communist China to our north, with 4,000 miles of fully protected border. Cuba is a problem, but you haven't seen anything yet! More on Prime Minister Trudeau next week. Thank you for calling. Let freedom ring!"

The February 11, 1966, edition of "The St. Petersburg Times," a daily newspaper published in St. Petersburg, Florida, stated, "Let Freedom Ring preaches ultraconservative views through an unlisted telephone number."

The October 27, 1965, edition of "The St. Petersburg Times," indicated that the "Let Freedom Ring" telephone message (was) . . . . founded by Doctor William Campbell Douglass, Sarasota (Florida)."

LET FREEDOM RING

A recording of the message entitled "Let Freedom Ring" was obtained on April 6, 1971, by dialing St. Petersburg, Florida, telephone number 896-1373.

Pierre Elliott Trudeau,
"Let freedom ring! Not even Canadians, much less Americans, know of the blatant communist record of Pierre Trudeau, the Prime Minister of Canada. The news media has been very careful to keep the amazing facts about Trudeau's Red record from the people on both sides of the border. Trudeau always seems to be on hand when the communists are consolidating their powers, no matter how far away the country may be. He was in Ghana when the communists took over. He was in Algeria when Ben Bella turned that helpless nation into a communist dictatorship. Although it sounds insane, Pierre Trudeau was once picked up by our Coast Guard for paddling a canoe to Communist Cuba from Key West. Trudeau got his first government job with the help of communist Robert Brice. Brice, according to a Soviet defector, was a close friend of Soviet agent Alger Hiss. The communists held a National Economical Conference in Moscow in 1952. The Canadian delegation was organized and financed by the Canadian Communist Party. The records of the meeting revealed that the man who is now Prime Minister of Canada, Pierre Elliott Trudeau, was the head of that communist delegation. As you would expect a good revolutionary to do, Trudeau has packed his administration with communists. Jean Louis Gagnon, his Propaganda Minister, is a dues-paying member of the Communist Party. of the Senate, is an old-time communist. If the Canadians allow Pierre Trudeau and his communist revolutionaries to consolidate their power, the U. S. will be encircled by her enemies and the prospects of Americans celebrating their 200th anniversary as a free nation will be slim indeed. Contributions to this program may be mailed to P. O. There was no federal election in Canada during the past six months; however, there were five byelections, four in Quebec and one in Ontario. All seats had previously been held by members of the Liberal Party and the results found the Liberals maintaining the four seats in Quebec with reduced majorities and losing the seat in Sudbury, Ontario, to the New Democratic Party (NDP) in a very close election.

Thus the political atmosphere that has pervaded Ottawa since it became clear that the leadership of both major parties was in the process of change has been further strengthened by the feeling that in this period of vast transition both at home and abroad things have become too complicated to be mastered or managed by any party or any politician. One of the main causes of this frustration among politicians is that none of them feel they have a mandate from the people for any decisive act or policy change since in four of the last five general elections Canadian voters have refused to grant a mandate to any party (u)

This process of continued fragmentation was reflected in the byelection referred to above when the trend away from majority government was extended. It now seems definite that if the Liberals want to achieve a parliamentary majority and thus get a meaningful mandate they are going to have to recruit different personnel to appeal to the electorate and the leader of the Liberal Party, Prime Minister PEARSON, will be forced to undertake two large tasks. a major political assault on western Canada where the Liberal Party has been notoriously weak in the past and to change the image of the party sufficiently so that it can attract the NDP leaning vote. (X) (4)

Recent polls show that the opposition Conservative Party can now only claim the loyalty and support of 25% of Canadian voters as compared to 37% for the PEARSON government Liberals and 28% for the rising NDP. The rise of the NDP in political affairs especially in urban areas is no longer a political phenomenon. The rise has been made largely at the expense of the Conservatives and while the Conservative Party had been hopeful that the bottom of the trend had been reached late in 1966 when New Democrats pulled up level with the Conservatives at 26%, the continued disarray of the Conservative Party and the in-fighting over the Conservative Party national leadership apparently has resulted in continued loss of public support for the Conservative Party. (X) (4)

The dates of 9/6/67 and 9/9/67 have been selected by the Conservative Party for a convention to select a leader. This convention will be held in Toronto and, as of this date, the present leader of the Conservative Party, JOHN DIEFENBAKER, has not indicated his intentions. In the interim, many leading members of the Conservative Party have tossed their hats into the ring for the leadership including former Trade Minister GEORGE HEES, former Justice Minister DAVIE FULTON, former Agriculture Minister ALVIN HAMILTON, former cabinet minister MICHAEL STARR, Senator WALLACE MC CUTCHEON and former cabinet minister DONALD FLEMING. In addition, while not declared much pressure is being exerted by elements of the Conservative Party on Premier ROBERT STANFIELD of Nova Scotia whose government was re-elected for the fourth time the end of 5/67 with a 34 seat margin and Premier DUFF ROBLIN of Manitoba. At this point it is difficult to assess accurately which of the above individuals will get the nod inasmuch as a recent poll indicates that 70% of the delegates at this point have no choice at all and are uncommitted. (X) (4)

Meanwhile, the government through its policies, statements and actions continues to create a picture of a country going unaccountably pacifist and neutralist somewhat in the manner of India. There has been a curious mix of developments in Canada in which ambiguous Canadian foreign (X) (4)

policy postures the Armed Forces unification and the return of Priyy Council President WALTER GORDON to the cabinet all play a part. (S) (U) Canada

(115) Canada's disinclination to become involved in the war in Vietnam would have attracted relatively little attention but for the torrent of criticism which has deluged Washington offered by an impressive array of well meaning back seat drivers in Ottawa. For example, the Canadian government's determined efforts to hold up a channel of communication to Hanoi through Canada's place on the International Control Commission or Special Envoy CHESTER RONNING's sporadic but remarkably frank and un-diplomatic public criticism of the U. S. posture in Vietnam all fall into this disturbing Canadian pattern. One often sees expressed in the Canadian press that both PAUL MARTIN, External Affairs Minister, or Prime Minister PEARSON must be bidding for a Nobel Peace Prize nomination. (S) (U)

The belief is widely held that Canada is getting ready to pull out of NATO and for the wrong neutralist reasons. The reason for this has been the intimation by PEARSON and MARTIN that NATO in its present form is not geared for the vast changes in political, economic and military conditions that have occurred in western Europe since NATO was set up following World War II. (S) (U)

The unwarranted intrusions of WALTER GORDON into the defence policy field has caused much concern when he denounced the role of the U. S. in Vietnam. This coupled with public questioning by the Prime Minister and Mr. MARTIN about the future shape and purpose of the Canada and U. S. NORAD air defense agreement have inspired a suspicion that Canada would like to pull out of this military alliance. It is noted that the NORAD agreement is up for renewal in 1968 and Canada to date has demonstrated no interest in commencement of negotiations for its renewal. (S) (U)

Canada's military and foreign policy preoccupation is with peace-keeping operations under U.N. auspices and the Armed Forces unification program is looked upon in many circles as a military device which may render Canadian forces unemployable for anything but a U.N. peace-keeping operation. (S) (U)

~~SECRET~~~~CONFIDENTIAL~~

~~SECRET CONFIDENTIAL~~

Add to the above considerations the other irritants including Canadian wheat sales to Communist China, Canada's apparent readiness until a few months ago to extend recognition to Mainland China and to facilitate its entry into the U.N., Canada's refusal to break off diplomatic and trade relations with Cuba, the unhappy memories of the Diefenbaker government conflict with the Kennedy government and Canadian economic nationalism which keeps appearing and reappearing in different places and in a variety of forms but almost always constituting a threat of some magnitude to American investment in Canada. (S) (u)

The return of Walter Gordon, mentioned above, to Prime Minister Pearson's cabinet also has raised serious doubts in many minds as he is an apostle of economic nationalism and is undoubtedly author of a number of measures which the U. S. has regarded as dangerously discriminatory in terms of American interests and nothing Mr. Gordon has done since his return to the cabinet has in any way allayed the direst suspicions created by his reappointment. For example, he played a leading role in the Mercantile Bank affair, made a public statement denouncing the U. S. policy in Vietnam and was named by the Prime Minister on 1/23/67 to head a special ministerial committee to carry out a detailed study of the implications of foreign ownership and control of Canadian industry. (S) (u)

Diplomatically the government of Prime Minister Pearson has received setbacks. Despite the visit of President Johnson to Ottawa in 5/67 for talks with Pearson, the Pearson style of diplomacy seems sadly to have exhausted its relevancy. Heretofore under his leadership, Canada's foreign policy has been an extension of its domestic policy and the accent has always been on a noncommitted brokerage between conflicting interests whether they are Israel and Egypt or Ottawa and Quebec with the idea that if you do not take too strong positions on anything something less than disastrous is bound to emerge. This has been the great appeal of Pearson as the leader of the Liberal Party -- he is always the rational man in the irrational world forever trying to make the best out of a bad situation. Canada has always prided itself on the quiet diplomacy approach as the only possible posture in the face of its geographical, economic, social and military dilemmas. In the past the idea of (S) (u)

Canada as a middle power supplying peace-keeping ~~capable~~ world trouble spots has fitted in ideally with the above philosophy. However, the haste with which U THANT, the Secretary General of the U.N., ordered the withdrawal of the U.N. Emergency Force from the Gaza Strip caused serious doubt in Canada about such operations in the future and at the same time the usefulness of Canada's newly integrated mobile force of peace keepers. (X)(4)

One thing that can be said in favor of the Canadian government during the past six months is the stand which it has finally apparently taken with reference to the Province of Quebec. In a cabinet shuffle the first week in April, the Prime Minister recast his cabinet in favor of youth and new direction. At the same time he brought in a Quebec team federally committed to the doctrine that French Canada's aspirations may be best served by opting in rather than opting out of confederation. Nine of his 27 ministers are now from Quebec and among them they hold 18 university degrees, the average age is 45.8 and for the first time since Quebec's 1960 quiet revolution, the balance of French Canadian political power in the cabinet has swung back to the national capital. (X)(4)

The new lineup includes PIERRE ELLIOTT TRUDEAU, Minister of Justice, who is an outspoken antiseparatist and who dismisses the idea of a special status for Quebec as "wishy washy thinking." He has played an influential role in swinging liberal policy away from special deals with Quebec and to treat Quebec as a province like the others. Other new members include JEAN CHRETIEN, minister without portfolio, and JOHN TURNER, registrar-general. This individual, incidentally, has been strongly mentioned as a contender for Prime Minister PEARSON's role as leader of the Liberal Party when PEARSON steps down. (X)(4)

Quebec will not give in easily to this new approach by the federal government as indicated by a stinging attack made on the federal government by Premier JOHNSON of Quebec in May over the signing of a cultural agreement by the federal government and Belgium. This agreement was signed during the state visit to Ottawa of Prince ALBERT and Princess PAOLA. JOHNSON claimed the pact for the promotion of artistic, technical and scientific exchange infringed on the province's authority over education and said the federal (X)(4) government had used the royal visit to crush provincial jurisdiction. He also said the federal government could not expect Quebec to delegate to it the powers to engage in fields under Quebec jurisdiction such as material resources, education and culture (S)(u)

He also startled the federal government by announcing he intends to exert Quebec control over television, radio and movies within the province. This marked the first time federal authority over broadcasting had ever been challenged and could become a major point of conflict between Ottawa and Quebec in the coming months.

In the field of immigration, it now appears that the Canadian government will relax even further the procedures outlined in my letter of 12/12/66. This is the result of a number of protests made by politicians and ethnic groups. About 195,000 immigrants arrived in Canada in 1966 and it is anticipated the number will reach 240,000 in 1967. Immigrants will be divided into three groups. One - independents with a level of education or skill enabling them to adjust to a new country. Two - dependents of persons already in Canada. Three - relatives who would need a little family help to get started but who would be entering the labor force. This third group which originally would have been sponsored only by a Canadian citizen with five years residence and then only if (S)(u)

the person had seven years schooling or a job skill in demand was the one which produced a flood of complaints. The new statement makes three concessions. One - the requirement that the sponsor show financial ability to look after the newcomer will be abolished. Two - in addition to relatives previously outlined, others will be eligible on compassionate grounds. Third - instead of parents and grandparents must not seek a job, these relatives will be regarded as retired if they are over 60. This means they will be able to enter without any question about whether they intend to work and they will be free to take jobs if they wish. (S) (u)

There continues to be an increasing number of U. S. citizens fleeing to Canada to avoid the draft. Present policy of the Canadian government is to permit these individuals to be interviewed by the RCMP at the request of the FBI to determine their intentions with reference to their responsibilities under the Selective Training and Service Act. There is no indication at this time that the Canadian government intends to take any action to close its borders to individuals in this category or to deport those already in Canada so long as they do not become involved in any activity for which they would be deportable. There continues to be publicity on both sides of the border in this sensitive area; however, there does not appear to be any end in sight particularly with Congress at the present time considering an extension of the Selective Training and Service Act and with new revisions. Star Staff Writer

Canadian officials say that Prime Minister Pierre Elliott Trudeau came to Washington for a political reappraisal with President Nixon as well as to expedite agreement on the economic differences between the two neighbor nations.

Trudeau met for two hours with Nixon yesterday afternoon and then again for several more hours at a stag dinner last night at the White House.

While the President and the prime minister were conferring—mainly in the presence of their special assistants for foreign policy, Henry W. Kissinger and Ivan Head—Cabinet-level officials of the two governments were holding a separate meeting on problems of mutual interest.

The United States was represented by Treasury Secretary John B. Connally and

Secretary of Commerce Maurice Stans while the Canadian officials were Minister of Finance Edgar J. Benson and Minister of Industry, Trade and Commerce Jean-Luc Pepin.

Announcements Unlikely

Officials of both sides indicated they doubted there would be any immediate disclosure of agreements as a result of the meetings, but both emphasized that they were held in a most cordial atmosphere.

The range of subjects covered by the two chiefs of state ranged from the Indo-Pakistan war to the Middle East, and from U.S. surcharge on imports to questions of trade imbalances, energy resources and defense spending.

The Canadians did not expand on Trudeau's desire for "political reappraisal" but said the prime minister felt the need for examining where "we are now."

Trudeau also sought the meeting with Nixon because he thought lower-level talks that have been in progress had reached the point where they would benefit from a shove at the top level, the Canadians said.

The Canadians said the prime minister put a general proposition to Nixon to find out the long-term U.S. attitude toward Canada and "received a response that was considered reassuring." They said the larger part of the Nixon-Trudeau conversation was devoted to bi-lateral economic relations.

Views Diverge

There were indications from both sides that the surcharge was high on the list of subjects discussed, but Canadian sources said the Cabinet-level meeting demonstrated that the two points of view are considerably divergent. They said there even is a discrepancy in the figures the two nations use, the U.S. is looking for correction of an imbalance now favorable to Canada, while Canada admits the present imbalance but considers that other factors bring the trade level much closer to equal.

White House press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler, briefing reporters on the same meeting, said the major part of the talks concerned multi-lateral matters.

Ziegler said Nixon and Trudeau talked about NATO, Nixon's upcoming trip to China and Trudeau's recent discussions with Russia's Alexi Kovalev. Nixon wanted to hear Trudeau's comments on his talks with Kosygin in Ottawa, Ziegler Nixon said, although he revealed that the Canadian prime minister already has written Nixon about them. Canadian officials hastened to say later that it was a very short letter.

Ziegler quoted Nixon as saying he was pleased with the meeting and delighted that Trudeau could come to Washington. Nixon plans to visit Canada some time next spring, Ziegler added.

Energy at Issue

The Canadians want relief from the 10 percent U.S. import surcharge that they say is especially burdensome to Canadian industry and aggravates a severe unemployment problem. They also are concerned about the pervasiveness of U.S. investment in Canada. Trudeau also opposes changes sought by the United States in the auto pact that permits free movement of new cars across the border to Canada's advantage.

The United States, in turn, wants increased export of energy and natural resources because of recurrent power shortage and is urging a guarantee of supplies of petroleum, gas and minerals from Canada. The Canadians are opposed to any package deal that regards its resources as continental rather than national.

The visits by Trudeau—called a working visit, rather than a state visit—is the first in a series of meetings Nixon is holding over several weeks with major allied leaders in preparation for Nixon's journey's next February and May to Peking and Moscow respectively.

ARCTIC 4/22 NX
 OTTAWA (UPI)--THE HOUSE OF COMMONS, IN ITS FIRST UNANIMOUS ROLL CALL VOTE SINCE 1944, VOTED TO GIVE A SECOND READING--AMOUNTING TO APPROVAL IN PRINCIPLE--TO THE EXTENSION OF CANADIAN JURISDICTION OVER ARCTIC WATERS, A MOVE STRONGLY OPPOSED BY THE UNITED STATES.

THE VOTE WAS 198 TO ZERO.
 THE BILL, WHICH GIVES CANADIAN AUTHORITIES POWER TO ENFORCE ANTI-POLLUTION LAWS FOR 100 MILES OFFSHORE IN THE ARCTIC, NOW GOES TO THE STANDING COMMITTEE ON INDIAN AFFAIRS AND NORTHERN DEVELOPMENT FOR DETAILED CONSIDERATION.

THE VOTE INDICATED THAT THE PROPOSALS WILL SAIL THROUGH PARLIAMENT WITH NO REAL OPPOSITION, AND MASS BACKING. VETERAN PARLIAMENTARIANS SAID THE VOTE WAS THE FIRST UNANIMOUS ROLL-CALL IN THE HOUSE SINCE 1944, WHEN ALL MEMBERS SUPPORTED THE BILL WHICH CREATED THE SYSTEM OF FAMILY ALLOWANCES.

THE ARCTIC WATERS BILL HAS BROUGHT ON TWO OFFICIAL PROTESTS FROM THE U.S. GOVERNMENT, WHICH SAID IT COULD "NEITHER ACCEPT NOR ACQUIESCE TO" THE 100-MILE JURISDICTION. THE UNITED STATES COMPLAINED THE LAW WOULD CREATE A PRECEDENT FOR OTHER COUNTRIES EXTEND THEIR OFFSHORE POWERS.

STRICT ANTI-POLLUTION STANDARDS WOULD HAVE TO BE MET BEFORE CANADA WOULD ALLOW SHIPS INTO THE NORTHWEST PASSAGE, UNDER THE TERMS OF THE BILL. CANADIAN AUTHORITIES WOULD HAVE THE POWER TO BAR SHIPS FROM THE AREA, SEIZE OFFENDERS.

THE NORTHWEST PASSAGE HAS GAINED IMPORTANCE RECENTLY WITH THE VOYAGE OF THE MANHATTAN, THE ARCTIC SUPERTANKER THAT IS THE BIGGEST SHIP IN THE U.S. MERCHANT FLEET. THE VOYAGE SHOWED THAT THE ICE-CHOKED PASSAGE MAY BE OF GREAT IMPORTANCE AS A SEA ROUTE BETWEEN THE BILLIONS OF DOLLARS WORTH OF OIL DISCOVERED IN ALASKA, AND THE EAST COAST OF THE UNITED STATES.

PRIME MINISTER PIERRE ELLIOTT TRUDEAU HAS GIVEN STRONG BACKING TO THE ARCTIC WATERS BILL, CALLING IT ONE OF THE MOST IMPORTANT AND EXCITING PROJECTS OF HIS GOVERNMENT, AND SAYING HE IS PREPARED "TO BE TOUGH ENOUGH" WITH THE UNITED STATES IF NEED BE.

A source advised on August 2, 1966, that the American Nazi Party, Los Angeles, California (ANPLA), which branch has also been known as the American Nazi Party, Western Division (ANPWD), maintains its headquarters at 4375 North Peck Road, El Monte, California, and that RALPH PERRY FORBES is the Captain in charge of the Western Division.

At a press conference on May 2, 1963, in Los Angeles, California, RALPH PERRY FORBES stated he was at that time a Lieutenant in the ANP and the ninth-ranking officer of the organization. He stated he arrived in Los Angeles May 1, 1963, to take charge of the party's headquarters in the Los Angeles area, which has control over party activities in the Southwestern United States.

The late GEORGE LINCOLN ROCKWELL, self-styled national commander of the ANP, arrived in Los Angeles on May 6, 1963, and was photographed by the local press with RALPH PERRY FORBES.

RE: The Attached

Counsel's office has asked me to look at the attached. I am suspicious of the author, but I am not unaware of the curious background of the present Prime Minister.

It occurs to me that you might want to evaluate this, and perhaps check to see if the man has had RCMP "cooperation." Would you be in a position to give me, fairly soon, a substantiation or rejection of each of the charges made here?

NATIONAL COMMITTEE FOR ENACTMENT OF CANADIAN CONSTITUTION

STATEMENT ON BRITISH NORTH AMERICAN ACT AND ASPECTS THEREOF AFFECTING CANADA - U.S.A. RELATIONS.

The British North America Act, hereinafter called BNA , constitutes the Federal and Provincial statutes and regulates Canada's external as well as internal matters. This Act was decreed for Canada by the British Colonial Office and as such it never was submitted to the Canadian people for acceptance or rejection in any form by way of national plebiscite or referendum.

The BNA does not contain a written Constitution, does not have Bill of Rights and many other essential laws and regulations are missing and the law itself is administered not by written statutes but by precedents. Other clauses of BNA are outdated and no longer applicable, but those clauses are not deleted, modified, changed or substituted, and they can be called into effect at any time it suits the ruling party.

For that reason any revision of the BNA is silently and secretly opposed by the the political parties.

The British government since the end of the World War II has pursued policies granting national independences to former colonies and dominions, but the Canadian ruling parties have denied this right to the Canadian people and are continuing to enforce the BNA upon the people by the force of arms.

The present non cooperation by the Canadian government in helping the United States in the Vietnam war stems from the BNA. For instance anyone organizing volunteer groups for that purpose commits a <sup>N</sup>reasonable offence.

For that and other reasons many politicians choose rabid anti-Americanism as their political platform. In this way they can count on press, radio and T.V. support and usually get elected into the office.

The NATIONAL COMMITTEE FOR ENACTMENT OF CANADIAN CONSTITUTION is non-political, non-profit, private judicial organization. Its purpose is to call national referendum on BNA and to enact a Canadian Constitution.

The present Canada's political parties have no legal rights to do this, on the grounds that they exist as the result of laws originating outside of Canada, which have not been endorsed by the Canadian people. Therefore such a matter becomes a judicial one.

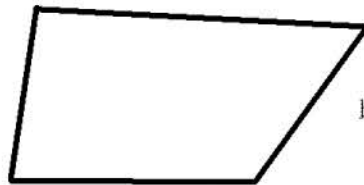

Such a new Canadian Constitution would contain provisions regulating Canada - U.S. relations. It would be made unlawful for any Canadian government to sabotage United States defence effort in any part of the world, to support or render any assistance, direct or indirect to any country or political sub-division in any part of the world which is directly or indirectly involved in war or any armed conflict with the United States.

It should be made illegal for any Canadian government to pursue policies, which would endanger the safety and security of the North American continent or the security and safety of the Western World, or sabotage, not support or otherwise undermine the defence effort and defence policies of the North American Continent.

This should be firmly and permanently anchored into the Constitution and the Federal Statute, forming new basis for future Canada - U.S. relations.

Respectfully submitted.

Dated at Toronto this 4th day of March 1969.

STATEMENT PERTAINING TO BIOGRAPHICAL DATA AND POLITICAL ACTIVITIES OF PIERRE ELLIOTT TRUDEAU.

- 1940 Dismissed from Canadian Officers Training Corps for lack of discipline.
- 1945 Studied at Harvard, traditional leftist stronghold and influence in U.S.A.
- 1947 Studied at London School of Economics under Prof. Harold Laski, the noted marxist author and intellectual.
- 1950 Lived on mainland China during Communist take over of that continent, and became ardent admirer of Mao Tse-tung's revolutionary tactics.
- 1951 On return from Communist China founds marxist magazine entitled CITE LIBRE in association with following persons: -
- GERARD PELLETIER, noted marxist, now Secretary of State in Trudeau's Cabinet.
- PROF. RAYMOND BOYER, convicted as Soviet spy in the Gouzenko case.
- STANLEY B. RYERSON, editor of MARXIST REVIEW.
- PIERRE GELINAS, Quebec Director of Agitation & Propaganda ( Agitprop ) of the Canadian Communist Party Quebec Branch.
- 1952 Leads delegation of Canadian Communist sympathizers to Moscow's Economic Conference. Strongly denounced by Quebec influential publications Le Droit and L'action Catholique.
- 1954 U.S. Government bars Trudeau's entry into the United States.
- 1955 Launches a united front of all leftist forces in Quebec. New Democratic Party refuses to join, because the front is too left.

- 1960 Leads Canadian Communist Delegation to Peking for Red victory celebration. On return lauds and approves Mao Tse-tung's regime.
- 1960 United States coastal guards pick him up off Key West Florida as he tries illegally to sail to Cuba, and deport him back to Canada.
- 1962 Becomes an Executive Officer of the Canadian Peace Research Institute, - a Communist front organization.
- 1965 Together with noted leftist Jean Marchand, now Cabinet Minister under Trudeau, and Telletier joins the Liberal Party and soon rises to Cabinet level.
- 1967 Named Minister of Justice and introduces the notorious Bill to amend the Criminal Code. The Bill causes widespread public protest.
- 1968 During the General Election the press, radio and T.V. build up fantastic and unheard of propaganda and publicity campaign in his favor, - completely concealing his marxist past activities and omitting important biographical information from the Canadian public.

TRUDEAU'S RECORD AS PRIME MINISTER.

He approves Soviet invasion of Czechoslovakia on the grounds that Czechoslovakia lies within the Soviet "sphere of influence."

At his speech held at Kingston, Ontario he stated that " the greatest danger to Canada lies not from Communist countries, but from the United States."

He introduces Bill in the Government to withdraw Canada from the NATO alliance and the NORAD pact.

He introduces another Bill in the Cabinet to recognize the Red China and to establish diplomatic relations with that country, and possibly recognize the Red China's claim over the Island of Formosa.

Unsuccessfully tries to limit powers of Parliament and establish rule by Cabinet. Evokes strong protest and condemnation by the opposition Parties.

On his return from the Commonwealth Prime Ministers Conference in London he orders arrest and detention of a number of Canadian newsmen, for unfavorable reporting of his deplorable conduct at the Conference. The newsmen were later released.

He orders the Canadian border authorities to allow the entry into Canada of United States draft dodgers and army deserters.

The aforesaid policies by Trudeau were deliberately concealed from the Canadian public during the General Election of 1968 and not mentioned at all as part of his political platform.

On this evidence the aforesaid constitutes deliberate defrauding of Canadian electorate and winning elections on false pretences.

The Bureau, Albany and Buffalo Offices exchanged communications in this matter under the caption, "THREAT TO DYNAMITE INTERNATIONAL BRIDGE, CORNWALL, ONTARIO, JUNE 27, 1969. SABOTAGE," (Bufile 98-11315). Information initially received through Legat, Ottawa, indicated that Canadian Indians might demonstrate and commit sabotage coincident with the rededication of the St. Lawrence Seaway at Massena, New York, on 6/27/69. All information received regarding this matter was furnished to the Secret Service at Washington and locally through the Albany Office, before the meeting took place.

[Redacted] New York State Police and sources of information were contacted. The only protest intended by Canadian Indians was to be against Canadian Indian policy and no protest was intended against the United States. No attempts at sabotage or injury took place at Cornwall, Ontario or at Massena, New York, and the Bureau was advised of this by Albany teletype dated 6/27/69 under the sabotage caption. Secret Service was at the scene and aware of all developments.

Dear Sirs:

Pierre Elliott Trudeau

I was reading an article on Prime Minister Trudeau of Canada and came across the statement that he was barred entry into the United States in 1953. Also I read that he headed up a delegation to an Economic conference in Moscow in 1952. I am doing a paper on Trudeau and would appreciate it if you could verify these facts for me. If also you could send me anything about Trudeau it would be appreciated. Thank you for your time and consideration.

There are four major political parties in Canada: ~~Liberal Party~~ (the incumbent), ~~Progressive Conservative~~; ~~New Democratic Party~~ and the ~~Social Credit Party~~.

The Liberal Party through deft maneuvering initiated Parliament in January 1973 and adroitly maneuvered various issues through Parliament utilizing the assistance of the New Democratic Party.

In May 1974, the New Democratic Party brought down the Liberal government when the Finance Minister, JOHN TURNER tried to pass the government's annual budget. The New Democratic Party objected to the bill as inflationary and that it did not contain enough benefits to the lower income groups. At that time, all parties were waging campaigns which would culminate in a national election on July 8, 1974. The early polls suggested that the next government could, in fact, be another minority with the Liberals under PIERRE PRUDEAU again forming a minority government with either the New Democratic Party or possibly with the Social Credit Party.

The old Parliament had the following rundown: Liberals - 110; Progressive Conservatives - 108; New Democratic Party - 30; Social Credit Party - 14.

The main issues in the campaign were inflation, foreign control of Canadian industry, high cost of housing, which affects lower income groups. Many smaller issues were being debated, such as the efforts of the government to make Canada a completely bi-lingual country.

On July 8, 1974, the general election was held and resulted in an overwhelming victory for Prime Minister TRUDEAU, with the Liberal Party winning 141 seats to 95 for the Progressive Conservatives, 16 for the New Democratic Party, 11 for the Social Credit Party and one independent. As a result of the general election, ~~ROBERT STANFIELD, Progressive Conservative leader~~, announced he would step down as leader by March 1975. ~~DAVID LEWIS, New Democratic Party leader~~, also had to step down as he was defeated for re-election in his attempt to retain his seat in the House of Commons.

Thus, the country drifted on without a budget or a Parliament until September 1974, at which time Prime Minister TRUDEAU called Parliament into session and a budget was prepared, almost identical to that proposed in May 1974.

On October 21, 1974, Prime Minister TRUDEAU travelled to France on the first official visit since General DeGAULLE's infamous remarks while in Quebec in 1967 when he shouted a slogan calling for a "Free Quebec."

On November 22, 1974, ~~Canadian Energy Minister DONALD MAC DONALD~~, announced to the world that Canada's maximum oil exports to the United States would be cut in January 1975 from approximately one million gallons a day to approximately 820,000 gallons a day, and by the early 1980s the exports would cease. Although this would generally lead one to believe Canada was playing "dog with a bone," the general consensus of opinion among high Canadian circles was that the government was seriously worried about reserves and believed in the long run that the most benefit to Canada would evolve in keeping the oil reserve close to home.

The oil action, coupled with the refusal of Canada to accept U.S. beef which utilized the drug DES, followed by U.S. retaliation with Canadian beef import quotas, has added fuel to cross border feelings. The Canadians continue to overstress Canadian nationalism. It is believed to be a protective instinct more than a deep-seated feeling of dislike and is continually fueled by the media. Recent suggestions that the U.S. State Department is attempting to tell Canadian subsidiaries of U.S. plants whether they can sell to Cuba, has added fuel to the irritants and even though the U.S. government has not invoked the "Enemy Trading Act," the Canadian Press continues to sensationalize the incidents.

The Canadian economy as of December 1, 1974, remains strong, although it appears to be softening. Housing starts are down about 22 per cent over 1973. This is due to the high bank rates which topped at 12 per cent. Inflation is taking its toll and is expected to run about 12 per cent for 1974. This is expected to lower the expected 5 per cent gain in the Gross National Product. Unemployment has not dramatically increased in 1974, although the automobile industry is starting to reflect some of the aftereffects of the U.S. job market and in 1975, it is expected that the Canadian part of the auto-making industry will increase the unemployed percentages to about 5 per cent. The reason the Canadian market has stayed strong is due to the fact that the Canadian assembly plants mostly produce the smaller models of North American vehicles.

The Canadian dollar has remained strong but has dropped from about 1.0350 to 1.0135 as compared to the U.S. dollar.

Extradition Matters

On matters of extradition between the United States and Canada, the situation remains the same.

DC ~~SECRET~~ On December 3, 1971, External Affairs Minister MITCHELL SHARP and Secretary of State WILLIAM ROGERS signed an extradition treaty in Washington. It replaces one signed in 1842, which, with supplemental conventions and amendments, has served since then as the basis of extradition proceedings between the two countries. At least nine new crimes have been added to the list for which extradition is provided, including hijacking of aircraft; wounding, maiming or assault causing bodily harm; unlawful sexual acts with minors; throwing of corrosive substances, making a false affidavit; extortion; willful injury to property, securities offenses, and making or possession of explosive substances. The treaty also specifies that attempting, conspiring or being party to any of the offenses also makes a person liable for extradition.

The treaty remains unconfirmed at this time and due to the election in July, it was not believed any favorable action will take place until at least January 1975.

There have been no extremist or political-type assassinations or kidnappings in Canada in the past six months.

THE CANADIAN CASTRO

To the north the United States is bounded by Canada, still nominally a part of the British Empire (such as it is) but having stealthily moved further and further away from the mother country during the tenure of Lester Pearson as Prime Minister. From Canada is exported subversion and sabotage into its friendly neighbor on the continent of North America. Into Canada are welcomed the hordes of young American draft dodgers who refuse to fight for their country. Canada has been for many years a route through which illegal and undesirable aliens enter this country. East Europeans and other Communists have infiltrated into the United States across our northern border. It was to Canada that the accused killer of Martin Luther King fled and was safely sheltered and finally spirited away. The Canadian deal to supply wheat to Communist China was a shocker at the time but now Americans are becoming inured to tales of trading with the enemy. Lester Pearson has been called by some the Kerensky of the Canadian Marxist Revolution with the new Prime Minister, Pierre-Elliott Trudeau now in a position to consolidate it.

While the Communist puppet in Cuba came to power by armed force (with the help of the United States Government and the N.Y. TIMES), Trudeau, the potential Castro of Canada, has come to power by a political maneuver. The American public watched the Castro take-over but it was fooled into believing he was anti-Communist and the "saviour of the Cuban people," as were the Cuban people themselves. Similarly Americans have watched Trudeau move into the position of Prime Minister of Canada but they are not informed concerning his background by the news media. Only those concerned about Communism and the continued spreading of its evil influence around the world are aware of the danger that the accession to power of Pierre-Elliott Trudeau poses to the United States and ultimately the whole world.

Although admittedly a radical socialist, Trudeau went into the Liberal Party which was in power in 1965 and used it as his vehicle through which to enter politics. He was promptly made a special protege of Lester Pearson, then Prime Minister, and was made his Parliamentary Secretary and then Minister of Justice. He would seem to be the hand-picked successor to the aging Pearson, ready, willing and able to carry on the leftward trend started by Pearson. Trudeau is a millionaire, a graduate of Harvard University and the London School of Economics.

Among the questionable activities in Trudeau's background are the following:

He attended a Communist-sponsored economic conference in Moscow in 1952 and on his return wrote pro-Soviet articles.

He was barred entry to the United States after attending this conference, although he has admitted that this did not keep him out of the U.S. as it is so easy to slip over the border.

He founded the magazine, CITE LIBRE, a radical socialist publication which published articles by known Communists.

He has travelled twice to China, has been personally received by Mao and has written a book glorifying Mao. One of his visits was in 1960 to celebrate the tenth anniversary of the Chinese Communist Regime.

During the Bay of Pigs invasion in Cuba he tried to row a boat from the Florida Keys to Cuba, but was detained by the U.S. Coast Guard on suspicion of spying.

He travelled across the border of Cambodia and Vietnam at the height of the Indochinese War. He was arrested crossing the India-Pakistan line.

One of the subversive organizations operating in Canada at the present time is the Canadian Peace Research Institute (CAPRI) which numbers among its staunch supporters Prof. Raymond Boyer, a convicted Soviet spy (now released after having served his sentence) and Prime Minister Trudeau. Trudeau had been a professor like Boyer, with whom he is friendly, and was credited with being the force behind the pro-Castro sentiment at Montreal University, many of whose students go to Cuba on their summer vacation. After trying to form a political bloc by uniting all the leftist elements in Quebec, Trudeau finally joined the party in power in 1965 and worked his way to the top through it.

The man who was responsible for the exposure of Raymond Boyer as a Soviet spy with his resulting arrest and conviction has also warned of Trudeau. In a memorandum prepared shortly before Trudeau came to power, Igor Gouzenko, Soviet defector who exposed a huge Canadian spy ring in which Americans were also involved wrote:

"Because Canadian and U.S. press, radio and television largely ignored the past activities and writings of Trudeau, the public is not aware of a real possibility that on the 8th of April, 1968, the next Prime Minister of Canada might be a self-admitted radical socialist and Canada might with ever increasing pace turn into a second Cuba...."

"The present Minister of Justice, Pierre-Elliott Trudeau, was elected to Parliament only in 1965.....He is careful not to call himself a communist, but as a matter of record, he was once barred from the United States as a communist....."

"Yet in spite of this background, shortly after Trudeau was elected to Parliament in 1965, Prime Minister Pearson appointed him his Parliamentary Secretary, and then made him, of all things, the Minister of Justice.

"Pearson now supports Trudeau in the leadership race.....Press, radio and television are giving Trudeau unprecedented publicity, building him up as an intellectual....."

"Pearson's own background is well-known. Elizabeth Bentley testified under oath that Pearson was giving the Soviet spy ring information...."

Gouzenko, a young attache of the Russian Embassy in Ottawa, Canada, defected in 1945 and revealed the existence of a big Soviet espionage ring, operating not only in Canada but in the United States. The (now defunct) left-wing New York newspaper PM carried a word of warning to the comrades on February 19, 1946 under the headline: "FBI WATCHING 100 ATOM SPY SUSPECTS IN U.S.A." The article stated:

"President Truman has received a secret report from the FBI (Federal Bureau of Investigation) which lists names of more than 100 men and women in this country who directly or indirectly have cooperated with a foreign spy ring attempting to 'crack' the secrets of atomic energy here and in Canada.

"It was learned that the FBI has had this organization under surveillance for almost a year and can begin making arrests at any moment that the White House authorizes action. (And you know it never did Ed.)

"The espionage organization, it was said by informed officials, was activated by agents of Soviet Russia.

"The espionage activities inside the U.S.A., it was indicated, dwarf those carried on in Canada. Spy activities in Canada resulted last week in a special statement by Prime Minister W.L. MacKenzie King, a sweeping series of arrests....."

"Activities of the ring, it was understood, have precipitated a highly embarrassing situation at the White House and State Dept. President Truman and Secretary of State Byrnes are said to be none too anxious to order arrests....."

An official 1945 security memorandum explains the background of all this espionage activity:

"During the period since V-E Day, and particularly since V-J Day, the picture of Soviet espionage activity in the United States has become clearer.

"According to the information furnished to a representative of this Bureau and to the Royal Canadian Mounted Police by Igor Gouzenko, as set out elsewhere in this memorandum, the headquarters of Red Army Intelligence in Moscow issued instructions after the use of the atomic bomb in Hiroshima and on Nagasaki, and in fact subsequent to the actual surrender of Japan, that the discovery of all technical phases of the construction of the atomic bomb was the number one espionage project for the Soviets.....According to Gouzenko, the complete data was to be supplied to Moscow regarding the atomic bomb by the end of December 1945....."

"With regard to espionage in the United States, Igor Gouzenko, former code clerk in the office of the Soviet military attache, Ottawa, Canada, advised a representative of this Bureau and officers of the RCMP, that during World War II the head of Red army intelligence activities in the United States was Gen. Illya Saraov (Saraev) the military attache. Two of the principal operators of espionage rings under Saraev (Saraev) were Pavel P. Mikhailov, acting Soviet consul general in New York City, and Col. A.I. Sorvin (Servin) of the tank department of the Soviet Government Purchasing Commission....."

"During the United Nations Conference on International Organization, held at San Francisco in the spring of 1945, Louise Bransten entertained at her home Dimitri Manuilski, the principal representative of the Ukraine S.S.R., who is more widely known as a longtime official and spokesman of the Comintern. Bransten is, at the present time, in New York City where she has established contact with Pavel Mikhailov, acting Soviet consul general, who has been reported to this Bureau and to the RCMP by Igor Gouzenko, mentioned elsewhere in this memorandum, as the head of Red army intelligence activity in the New York area." (When questioned about this information by a Senate Committee, Louise Bransten took the Fifth Amendment. She may be remembered as a friend of N.Y. Sen. Jacob Javits, one whom he has stated that it was suggested that he marry.)

At the time of the formation of the U.N. in San Francisco, Sen. Javits visited Louise Bransten in her home. During this same trip, Javits also had conversations (observed by the FBI) with top U.S. Communist, millionaire Frederick Vanderbilt Field. Raymond Boyer, mentioned previously as a Soviet spy convicted in Canada, is also a millionaire Communist and his wife, Madaleine, is the former Mrs. Frederick Vanderbilt Field. Field, now living in Mexico, is married to Boyer's first wife.

At the time of the formation of the U.N. in San Francisco, former Canadian Prime Minister Lester Pearson was there as senior adviser to the Canadian delegation to the conference. He played an important part in helping to formulate the United Nations Charter and was considered a possibility for the post of the first Secretary General of the U.N. He was a member of the Canadian delegation to the U.N. from 1946 to 1957 and chairman of that delegation from 1948 through 1956.

Lester Bowles Pearson came to the United States in June 1942 as Minister-counselor at the Canadian Legation in Washington, D.C. He helped establish the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration (UNRRA) in November 1943 and represented Canada at the Dumbarton Oaks conference which was held from August to October 1944 to draw up preliminary plans for the establishment of the United Nations. In January 1945 he became Canadian Ambassador to the United States. While in Washington Pearson was friendly with a number of key individuals connected with the subversive Institute of Pacific Relations. An exhibit in the Senate Hearings on the I.P.R. shows that Pearson attended a private IPR discussion group on United Nations cooperation on March 15, 1943 at which the following persons were present: Ralph Bunche of O.S.S.; Edward C. Carter of I.P.R.; Dr. Frank Coe, Board of Economic Warfare; Michael Greenberg, Board of Economic Warfare; W.L. Holland, I.P.R.; David Weintraub, Office of Foreign Relief and Rehabilitation; Len DeCaux, publicity director of the C.I.O., Washington, D.C. All of these have a record of varying degrees of connections with the International Communist Conspiracy, ranging from Communist-front affiliation to Communist Party membership to Soviet espionage.

While in the U.N. Pearson delivered what has been termed "one of the most critical speeches of American policy ever made by a Canadian statesman." He opposed a United States plea that Communist China be declared an aggressor in the Korean war and suggested a milder resolution which was adopted. He headed the General Assembly's Political and Security Committee during the special session that paved the way for the establishment of the state of Israel. When the U.S. Government requested permission for the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee to interview Igor Gouzenko, the Soviet defector, Pearson did all in his power to block this permission. Gouzenko prepared a statement dated November 20, 1953 in which he said:

"I believe a meeting would be useful since I can give advice which, if properly put into effect, would have good chances of bringing exposure of present Soviet spy rings in the United States in comparatively short time....."

"It appears that Mr. Pearson was ill advised and acted in such haste that he even neglected to read the original interview upon which he based his not correct statement in Parliament."

As Prime Minister for External Affairs, Lester Pearson bitterly attacked the U.S. Senate Internal Security Sub-committee for having exposed his close friend, Dr. Herbert Norman, as a Communist. Norman was made Canadian Ambassador to Cairo and conveniently "committed suicide" there early in 1957.

On April 22, 1963 Pearson was sworn in as fourteenth Prime Minister of Canada. He began campaigning for a new flag to replace Canada's traditional Red Ensign and, in spite of much opposition, managed to force through a bill authorizing a new flag. On November 20, 1967 Pearson gave a five thousand dollar award to Robert Bryce in recognition of his "outstanding service." Robert Bryce, Canada's deputy Minister of Finance, shortly thereafter ordered the cancellation of the International Service of the CBC - programs over six channels beamed to the people behind the Iron Curtain. Robert Bryce was known to belong to a communist study group in Washington, D.C., where he served. He was a close friend of Alger Hiss and in fact has been called the Canadian Alger Hiss.

The Senate Internal Security Sub-committee heard testimony from a prominent Japanese Communist student leader, Shigeto Tsuru, on March 26, 1957 that there was a close association between Herbert Norman (the Cairo "suicide") and Robert Bryce at Harvard University. (SCOPE OF SOVIET ACTIVITIES IN THE USA, pp. 5021-5022)

Recently Mr. Pearson was presented with a scroll of appreciation by the president of the Ontario Liberal Federation "in appreciation for the outstanding work done during the prime minister's term of office." When asked what he considered the most outstanding piece of legislation he accomplished, Pearson replied: the removal of the Red Ensign, Canada's national flag. Other "accomplishments" were the removal of the royal insignia from mail boxes; removal of royal insignia from armed forces' cap badges; the subtle introduction of new stamps not bearing the Queen's head, substituting fishes and birds, etc. Pearson pushed a bill through for "unification" of Canada's armed forces. Commenting on the bill, Peter Trueman, President of the Canadian U.N. Association, stated: "If the stated objectives of unification of its armed forces are achieved, (Canada) will be the only country in the world whose army will fit U.N. peace-keeping force requirements." Pearson has gone on record, stating in an article published in MACLEAN'S MAGAZINE of May 2, 1964 that certain members of the United Nations, including Canada are strongly in favor of building a "permanent organization for international peace-and-police action," and suggesting that this might be accomplished "by organizing a force for this purpose, one formally outside the United Nations but ready to be used at its request." This seems to be what he proceeded to do in Canada. America will be pleased to know that while Cuba points atomic weapons in our direction, Canada has a ready-made U.N. "peace-keeping" force ready to move across the border.

Pearson has now turned the reins over to his successor, Trudeau, who may be expected to continue the stealthy leftward steering of the top half of the continent of North America. Under Trudeau, Canada had an unprecedented mail strike. One of Trudeau's first acts was to call for the recognition of Communist China. Under Trudeau draft dodgers and military deserters from the United States find life good. According to the U.S. NEWS AND WORLD REPORT of October 28, 1968 estimates of the number of draft dodgers in Canada vary from as low as 300 to 400 to as high as 25,000. The article states:

"Here (Ottawa) as in nearly every other major city in Canada there are organizations—such as Ottawa's Assistance with Immigration and the Draft—that help young Americans coming to this country.

"Groups like AID counsel the new arrivals on how to file for residence papers, where to find jobs, how to obtain low-cost accommodations. Those who come to this country without funds often receive free room and board temporarily."

Trudeau, the radical, may be expected to continue the policy of Pearson who permitted Toronto to become the key distribution point in North America for THE CRUSADER, the revolutionary periodical published in Peking by Communist Robert Williams, who fled from the United States to Communist Cuba with charges of kidnapping hanging over his head. This publication is reportedly smuggled into the United States through Mrs. Anne Olson, 21 Ellis Gardens, Toronto, wife of Verne Olson, former National Chairman of the Communist Fair Play for Cuba Committee, a group to which Lee Harvey Oswald belonged. Verne Olson was a key technician in the Electrical Research Division of the Ontario Hydro Power Commission, which operates the Sir Adam Beck Niagara Station No. 2—source of the November 9, 1965 blackout of northeastern United States. (See our issue on Rehearsal for Revolution.)

U.S. Law Enforcement Agencies have intercepted a copy of a 12-page Communist blueprint for nationwide destruction by sabotage of America's Selective Service offices, which was prepared in Toronto, Canada. This document contained detailed instructions for making Molotov cocktails, time bombs, etc. The CRUSADER regularly presents plans for Communist sabotage in the United States. Red guerrilla patrols have also been moving back and forth across the U.S.-Mexico border and jamming devices have been set up in Mexico to jam radio frequencies used by the police and border patrol. Subversion is to the north and to the south of us, as well as NINETY MILES offshore.

Canada seems to be considered by the State Department a good place to send pro-Communist or compromised foreign service officers. Wilbur Proteus Chase, in charge of the Consular Section of the U.S. Embassy in Ottawa, is strongly and openly pro-Communist as are other members of his family. Daroslav S. Vlahovich, after being compromised by female Communist Secret Police agents in Warsaw, was sent to the U.S. Embassy in Toronto where he was in charge of visas.

A warning about Canada has been sounded by that staunchly pro-American congressman, Hon. John R. Rarick, who stated on the floor of the House of Representatives on October 12, 1968:

"With terrorist activity on the increase in Mexico and other Latin American countries—Americans should expect Canada to be infiltrated as a base of anti-American activity. Prime Minister Pierre Elliott Trudeau leaves much to be desired...." Rarick termed Trudeau "A Potential Castro in Canada."
