1. The Iron Guard organization has been effectively strengthened of late by the support lent it by the present Rumanian Government, and many members of the Iron Guard hold good appointments in the Government and the Foreign Service.
2. Though Vojen, former Rumanian Ambassador to Rome [redacted] [redacted] is officially the head of the Iron Guard, the latter's activities are stated to be directed by Ana Pauker with the full authority of the Central Committee of the Rumanian Communist Party.
3. The former card-index of the Iron Guard is in MGB hands and is used to check up on former members who are normally segregated into two categories, viz. "criminals" and "of use to the service".
